Chief Hughes Is Not To Retire

A unanimous vote was taken by the Board of Aldermen on Monday evening to retain in office Chief Michael T. Hughes after he reaches the retirement age of 65 years on April 22, 1944.

This action was taken at the request of Chief Hughes, under the provisions of Special Acts of 1917, Chapter 139, Section 3, of the Acts of the General Court, which provides that a chief of police may be reappointed yearly after reaching the retirement age until he is 70 years old. The same procedure was followed in the case of his predecessor, the late Chief Bernard F. Burke.

Chief Hughes has been a member of the Newton Police Department for 38 years and has served as chief about 14 years. He was appointed a member of the force on Jan. 1, 1906.

Vote $250,000 From Surplus Fund Of Treasury

The Newton Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night voted to appropriate $250,000 from the city's surplus and transfer that amount to revenue, as recommended by Mayor Paul M. Goddard. Chairman Theodore R. Lockwood of the finance committee presenting the report of his committee favoring the transfer of this fund stated that the action would make possible a somewhat lower tax rate this year.

For many years Newton has had the lowest tax rate of any city in the state. Last year the rate was $27, a reduction of $1 from the 1942 rate.

The surplus from which the $250,000 is to be taken is at present the highest in the history of the city, it now being over $1,000,000. Much of this surplus is due to record sums returned to the city treasury by city departments having been of forced economy caused by the shortage of labor and materials.

A group of residents and property owners appeared at a hearing before the board to favor the construction of the following streets at Newton Upper Falls under the betterment tax:

Hemlock rd., from Roundwood rd. to Roundwood rd.

Hickory Cliff rd. from Boylston st. to Roundwood rd.

Roundwood rd. from Hickory Cliff rd. to White Pine rd.

White Pine rd. from Hickory Cliff rd. to beyond Roundwood rd.

A hearing was held on a similar project on Murphy court, Ward 2, at which Charles F. Bryson, owner of property fronting on Adams st., appeared to object to the assessment he would be required to pay as he said his property would not benefit by the project.

Hearings were also held on the proposed construction of a sewer in Fox lane, Ward 5 from Arnold rd. to Meadowbrook rd., and on a petition of the Boston Edison Co. for

Easter Message

By JAMES TOWNSHEND MacVICAR

Joyful is the Easter message;
Let the earth awake and sing!
Fear of death from hearts ejected
By the Christ, the risen king.

Natal day of life victorious;
Man from earth-born ties set free,
And the toil of ages ended
By the priest of Galilee.

Truth has triumphed over error.
Life has rent the gloom of night;
And the glad hope of Easter,
Floods the world with holy light.

Herald wide the Easter message;
Love has rolled the stone away,
And the dawn of resurrection,
Crowns with joy eternal day.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, April 5, 1889
There is a great demand for moderate priced houses in all parts of the city and the real estate agents have been kept busy this week.

The pews have been placed in position in the audience room of the new Eliot Church, and several of the large memorial windows have been put in.

Arrangements are being perfected by the Newton Boat Club for a grand fete at the clubhouse, Riverside, June 17. The program will include boating, music, dancing and other amusements.

Work will be commenced immediately, it is said, upon the extension of Temple st. to Fuller st., and 2 lots have already been sold subject to the laying out of the street which must be done at once in order to comply with the conditions of the sale. This will open up a number of very desirable building lots in an exceptional locality and will insure an accession of several modern houses before the winter season is again upon us.

Another meeting to talk over the proposed new hotel will be held in Cycle Hall, Newtonville, some evening next week, when the plans will be further discussed and opportunity offered to subscribe for the stock.

Women Suffrage got a decided set back at the last meeting of the Monday Club, Newton Highlands, not one of the members present desiring the privilege of being a voter.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, April 5, 1895
All the carts and wagons on the highway department have received a coat of blue paint which is a great improvement. This action is indeed a sign of the approaching spring, and suggests the usual cleaning.

E. W. Foster has purchased 16 acres of land at Newton Lower Falls from the M. C. Williams heirs. It is on Cedar st., and will be cut up into lots.

Newtonville telephone subscribers were cut over from the West Newton to the Newton exchange. The change is made for the improvement of the service. The new Washington street cable is utilized and the result is a large sized decrease of objectionable poles and overhead wires.

It is said that the Neighborhood Club (West Newton) is soon to build a handsome addition to its building, costing $12,000 containing parlors, card and billiard rooms. This club whose annual tennis meets are one of the features of the early summer was the pioneer in the idea of "family clubs" and it has many imitators.

25 YEARS AGO

Over 300 women filled the hall of the Young Men's Christian Association on Thursday in response to word which had been circulated that a large democratic woman's club was about to be organized. A committee consisting of Miss Jessie M. Fisher, Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller, Mrs. Ralph C. Henry, Miss Kate V. Fox and Miss Grace M. Burt were appointed at that time to draw up a constitution and by-laws to organize the Newton Community Club.

Saturday, June 7th, has been tentatively selected as the most available date to give a royal welcome home to the soldiers, sailors and marines who have served in the war from the city of Newton.

CENTRAL CLUB TO HOLD SECOND ANNUAL GAMES NIGHT

The Central Club of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville will hold their second Annual Games Night at the Church on Friday evening, April 14, at 8 o'clock.

There will be a short business meeting and following the report of the nominating committee, officers for the coming year will be elected.

For the games a goal of at least 100 tables has been set and it is hoped that members will invite their neighbors and friends to enjoy an evening of bridge, or checkers, chess, backgammon, caroms, etc. Light refreshments will be served during the evening.

It is planned to have some of our own boys who recently returned from combat areas, present.

The object of the Games Night is to secure the necessary funds to purchase and send to all young men and women of the church, whose names are on the Roll of Honor, a weather resistant copy of the New Testament. These testaments are prized highly by the boys as they get nearer to the combat zones, more highly than any other gift that the club could send them. They will be personalized by the imprint of their own name and with a message from the pastor, Rev. Randolph S. Merrill.

Anyone unable to be present at the Game Night who would like to further the cause of this fine project may send a check to Ralph Brown, 80 Otis st., Newtonville.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By F. W. C.

A few days ago it was my privilege to have lunch with our Congressman, Christian A. Herter, and a group of prominent Brookline constituents. During the discussion period following the lunch on the question of the President's health was brought up. Parenthetically, it seemed to me that Rep. Herter's attitude might well be emulated by a good many bitter anti-Roosevelt citizens. He appeared genuinely concerned regarding our Commander-in-Chief and, in general, behaved like a man who was, first and last, an American citizen and, secondly, a loyal member of the Republican party. That is as it should be.

Now, to the point. Rep. Herter suggested the possibility that our apparent lack of a carefully formulated, coherent foreign policy was due, in part at least, to the fact that Mr. Roosevelt is a very, very tired man, beset with a thousand and one grave problems clamoring for solution and without the physical and mental strength to grapple with them promptly and successfully. Furthermore, it has been Mr. Roosevelt's hope that his so-called "Assistant-President," former Justice James F. Byrnes, would be able to handle much of the domestic business of the Chief Executive's desk. This has not been the case. Congress has spent some little time badgering the President and backing him on numerous pieces of legislation. Work stoppages and grave labor problems have also forced the President to take a hand personally. The result has been that Mr. Roosevelt has not been able to concentrate largely on war and post-war problems. This had been his hope and expectation when he installed Mr. Byrnes in his present post.

What I have said above may be a partial explanation of our failure to enunciate to the world a comprehensive foreign policy which means something. Unfortunately for this country, explanations and excuses will avail nothing now. We have laid ourselves wide open to our enemies and to neutrals and we have probably lost considerable ground with our allies. Two fair criticisms may be made of our State Department, or whoever is responsible for our foreign policy. One is that we have enunciated too many broad, general statements of policy, as for example, the famous Atlantic Charter, without specifying the practical details of working out these policies; the other is that we appear to have been utterly inconsistent in our treatment of different countries. We have been tough when we should have been lenient and vice-versa.

Right this minute, we are faced with a most vital problem of policy. What are we going to do about Russia, which has been doing most of the conspicuous ball-carrying for the allies up to date? Russia shows signs of making her own, independent decisions regarding the prosecution of the war. Furthermore, she very obviously proposes to handle post-war problems in her own way, regardless of the desires and policies of either the United States or England. What, therefore, becomes of the Atlantic Charter? By the same token, what becomes of numerous other agreements, formal and informal, which we have made with our chief ally?

All this leads up to the main point of this week's discourse. One of our most intriguing radio commentators, especially since Kaltenbach has gone off the air, is Upton Close, who broadcasts at supper time on Sunday. On April 2 he made a statement that all decent Americans should be careful of this. The average American voter, regardless of party affiliations, is interested in supporting a candidate who FACES FRANKLY and SERIOUSLY GRAPPLES with our most vital problems of foreign policy. That, of course, means Russia, but it might conceivably mean the delicate subject of India, as well as certain other topics which are currently side-stepped, such as control of the worldwide airways after the war is over.

What is the situation today? Willie shows grave concern about the smaller nations. The silent candidate, Dewey, has stressed the importance of a British-American alliance. Bricker has talked chiefly about domestic issues and the glories of Ohio, with an occasional comment about the weather. Stassen has said nothing important save that he will accept the nomination if it is presented to him. MacArthur has been sphinx-like and has tended strictly to his knitting, which is getting along nicely, thank you.

Now, if Upton Close is correct in his diagnosis, there is a Heaven-sent opportunity for some courageous candidate to come out, get the right down to brass tacks in talking about our foreign affairs, and walk off with the G. O. P. nomination on June 26. As matters stand today, Wendell L. Willkie is the one man who obviously has the intestinal fortitude to come to grips with this issue. Will he do it? If he does, will he improve his rather poor position with the big shots in the G. O. P. throughout the country or will he continue to lose ground with the professional politicians, who, in most cases, can make or break a candidate? Time will tell.

P. W. C.

Whither Post War World

By J. T. MacVICAR

Prime Minister Winston Churchill, in his Sunday night broadcast to the British people, but intended for the other members of the United Nations as well, recounted the steps up the rugged road of blood, sweat and tears over which Great Britain and her Allies have progressed since the declaration of war in 1939.

It was not a typical Churchill speech overflowing with fire and challenge and buoyancy; rather he spoke in slow measured tones as if weighing each statement carefully, and it was significant by what he did not say. Unconditional surrender and its companion, the Atlantic Charter, were not mentioned. Perhaps this omission is a good omen that victory is in the offing and that there is no more need of new hope stimulators for the uninitiated.

His recapitulation of the African campaign, the Soviet victories and the United States, Australian and New Zealand success in the Pacific were the bright spots. He assured his listeners the British Empire would throw all its military and naval strength into the fight against Japan when the European war is ended. The veracity of that statement cannot be questioned. It is founded on economic necessity. In that part of the Orlic now dominated by the Japanese is the harvest of centuries of British conquest.

Mr. Churchill emphasized the growing power of the British and American air force and the "prodigious blows" that they are delivering. He promised that they would continue to strike with all the fury and he added, "That and other Allied air force in Italy almost as large as the one based in England is now established there. These together will produce results in these coming months which I shall not attempt to measure in advance but which will certainly be of enormous advantage to the cause of the Allies." Does this pronouncement mean that the second front must wait for further Churchill experimentation with his pet formula, "Victory by Air Power," and will the army now assembled in Great Britain be deployed elsewhere?

He dismissed the Russian dissatisfaction over the delay in opening the second front as due to their lack of understanding of the difficulties which attend amphibious operations on a large scale, but paid glowing tribute to the Russian Army and its leader, Marshal Stalin, of whom he said, "The peoples of all the Russias have been fortunate in finding in their supreme ordeal of agony a warrior-leader, Marshal Stalin, whose authority enables him to combine and control the movements of armies numbered by many millions up on a front of nearly 2000 miles and to impart a unity and concert to the war direction in the east which has been very good for Soviet Russia and very good for her Allies." Was the above a diplomatic suggestion to other war victors that they should be won when authority and unity of control supersede preferential political considerations?

There was a flash of the old Churchill when he turned the heat on those who are criticizing the government's social program. Just at present there is a sizable hubbub going on between the old-line Tories and the new, who combine and control the movements of armies numbered by many millions up on a front of nearly 2000 miles and to impart a unity and concert to the war direction in the east which has been very good for Soviet Russia and very good for her Allies.

Newton Notables

NOMINATED for the HALL OF FAME

Although the primary purpose of this column is to throw the spotlight on prominent citizens of Newton whose name and fame is perhaps greater outside the confines of our city, we shall occasionally touch on the careers of well-known people who have been exceedingly active in strictly Newton affairs. That is true of this week's celebrities, Mr. Henry I. Harriman and Prof. Kirtley F. Mather, both residents of Newton Centre.

For the benefit of those who may have missed this column on March 23, may I say that we gave our attention to Mr. Melville D. Liming and Mr. Hugh Nawn. The repercussions from that column were exceedingly interesting and stimulating.

This week we shall consider two men who have made an outstanding reputation in their home city as well as in broader fields. Both Mr. Harriman and Prof. Mather are nationally known and have made splendid contributions to their state and country.

Henry Ingraham Harriman was born in Brooklyn, New York, on Dec. 26, 1872. His parents were Daniel Gould and Sally Ingraham Harriman. He obtained his education at Adelphi Academy, Wesleyan University (1895) and the New York Law School. In 1930 Wesleyan gave him Ph.D. He also holds a Ph.D. from Northeastern University (1939).

Mr. Harriman married Miss Edith Graves of Clear Lake, Iowa, on July 7, 1898. The couple had three children, Eunice Alberta, Barbara and Gordon Douglas. They now reside at 825 Centre st., Newton Centre.

The average citizen doubtless knows Mr. Harriman best for the important part he has played in the development of hydro-electric and other public utilities in New England. It would take more space than is available to list all of his business connections, but here are just a few of the positions which he has held: President of the New England Power Co.; Vice-Chairman of the Board of Directors of the New England Power Association, Director of about thirty utility companies in New England, director of the New England Trust Co., and the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. At one time he was chairman of the public trustees of the Boston Elevated Ry.

Mr. Harriman gave much of his spare time to state and national organizations. For example, he has been president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Chairman of the Division on Metropolitan Planning in Massachusetts, Vice-Chairman of the Mass. State Planning Board. In the national field he has been a member of the American Youth Commission and employers' representative for the United States to the International Labor Conference at Geneva.

Locally, we know him best, perhaps, as one of our strong members of the Board of Aldermen. He served from 1915 to 1921 from Wards 7 and 1 and during the last four years he was honored by election to the Presidency of the Board. Indeed, many of us will recall the frequency with which Mr. Harriman's name bobbed up as a potential candidate for Mayor of Newton.

It has long been a mystery to many of the local statesmen how the city could resist the temptation to draft a man of such outstanding ability.

Prof. Kirtley Fletcher Mather was born in Chicago, Ill., on Feb. 13, 1888. His parents were William Green Mather and Julia S. (King) Mather. He graduated from Denison University (B.S.) in 1909 and won his Sc.D. in 1929. In 1915 he got his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago and in 1929 the Sc.D. from Colby College in 1938.

Prof. Mather married Miss Marie Porter of Weston, Michigan, on June 12, 1912. The couple had three daughters, Florence Margaret, Julia Carolyn and Jean Marie. The family resides at 155 Homer st., Newton Centre.

Fame did not come too suddenly to the subject of this brief sketch. He began as an instructor at the University of Arkansas in 1911, became Asst. Professor in 1912-1914, fellow of University of Chicago, 1914-1915, Associate Professor of Geology at Queen's University, Canada, the following two years and eventually wound up as Professor of Geology at Harvard University in 1927. He is still there. Incidentally it must have pleased him to serve as Professor of Geology at Denison University on his way up the ladder of success (1918-24).

Prof. Mather has been busy in so many varied activities, some connected directly with his life work and others somewhat far afield, that it would be hopeless to try to cover them all. However, there are a few that may prove of special interest locally. He has put in ten years as Director of the Harvard Summer School, has been geologist for the U. S. Geological Survey, 1919-1936, and senior geologist since 1939. He is a fellow of the Geological Society, American Academy Arts and Sciences. Many honors have been heaped upon him, but he continues to push forward in his chosen field, writing occasional books and countless magazine articles.

In the more restricted local field, Prof. Mather is, perhaps, best known for his service on the Newton School Committee from 1922-1937 and for his vision and leadership in the organization and operation of the Newton Community Forum, temporarily suspended on account of the war. He makes an ideal presiding officer and has handled many delicate situations with consummate tact. Finally, there are hundreds of men who are grateful to Prof. Mather for his Bible Class on Sundays. The fame of this class has spread far beyond the confines of Newton.

AWARDED LEGION OF MERIT

Word has been received from England that Alexander Standish, 183 Lake ave., Newton Highlands, has been awarded the Legion of Merit and promoted from the rank of Major to Lieutenant-Colonel in the U. S. Army Air Corps.

Colonel Standish was commissioned as a Captain upon entering the service in June 1942. He was first stationed in New York in the anti-submarine campaign but later was transferred to London where he has successively been advanced to Major and now to Lieutenant-Colonel.

LET'S KEEP PRICES DOWN

Rolling bandages at Red Cross, donating your good, red blood for plasma, raising a Victory garden, using your ration points wisely—all these things and many more you have done to speed us to victory.

Now comes another job, helping to keep prices down by checking ceiling prices as you shop. Unless the housewives of America do this job, it will not be done. The OPA is able to employ only about 1,100 paid food investigators. They cannot possibly cover the nation's 600,000 food stores. But the housewives can!

If prices are not checked, if we do not have compliance with price control regulations, what will be the result? The entire cost of living will rise, black markets will flourish and inflation will be upon us.

How does one go about this job? Let's take the case of Mrs. John Doe. After hearing about this problem she went to City Hall, War Price and Rationing Board, and asked for a set of ceiling prices for Newton. They were rather large to take to the store, so she used them at home when making out her shopping list.

On examining the sheets, she found that for staple food items the prices were listed in columns headed Group 1, 2, 3, 4. She remembered that in her regular store she had seen signs which read OPA Group 1, and the ceilings for all stores in that OPA group were in column 1. Mrs. Doe started her shopping list. Across the top she wrote the store group numbers, 1, 2, 3, 4, and put the price under the group number of the store in which she was going to buy the article:

1 2 3 4

Beef prices were set by grade, so she noted that, too.

Now, off to the store with the comfortable feeling that no one could overcharge Mrs. Doe. At the market she noticed that a cereal was priced at 14c and her list said 12c. She told the store manager.

"I'm glad you noticed that, Mrs. Doe," he said. "I want my prices to be correct but occasionally I make a mistake."

Letters To The Editor

As of March 26th, the Post Office Department, in a desperate attempt to offset some of its mounting deficit, stepped up some of its rates for various of its services. It seems, however, that this good-natured old servant is forever to be classed in the "sucker group." All kinds of free services are accepted by business, big and small—and by the public at large from the Post Office Department—but a mighty howl goes up and charges of robbery are insinuated because local banks bulging with money are able to offer "registered check" service at lesser rates than the Post Office money order department.

If the banks are as philanthropic as the P. O. D., they could not afford their low offered rates for registered check service. (The only thing I ever got for nothing from any bank was a calendar!)

To mention a few unorthodox business practices of the P. O. D.—(1) Airlines, railroads and shipping lines are subsidized by the department for carrying the mails. (2) Free service to all our armed services all over the world. (3) Air mail rates to service members in foreign countries—one-fifth to one-tenth the usual rates. (4) The age-old custom of the franking privilege to the nation's spokesmen in Washington. (5) Free (or penalty mail) to the hundred and one alphabetical organizations in Washington and throughout the country. (6) Ridiculously low rates for books, magazines, daily papers. (7) Parcel Post rates that discourage the least competition. (8) Directory service—consumes valuable time and for which no charge is made—as, for instance, locating John Smith, Boston, Mass.

Literally—I can think of a hundred "courtesy services" which the P. O. D. accepts as a matter of course and for which no provision for cost of service is made.

Economies are periodically attempted but rarely is the public or business taxed; no salaries of employees are reduced because experience has proved this is the line of least resistance.

Your weather-beaten old letter-carrier, the only uniformed public servant who provides his own uniform, and pays his own carfare—and your patient (well, almost always) window clerk—always are the goats—though they are pledged not to ever go on strike—don't know any periods of "big money"—and receive 10 per cent for overtime as against industry's time and a half and double time. Their one pitiful advantage is the much heralded security—in their job.

As for the P. O. D., it, too, has security—like the fellow selling apples for five cents that cost him a dime—no one tried to put him out of business—but he was morosely happy—because, as he said, "I don't make any money—but I do one H. of a business!"

OK HILL SCHOOL PRESENTS FIELD AMBULANCE

Through the courtesy of the First Service Command a Field Ambulance was sent out to the Oak Hill School in Newton Centre. The pupils of the school completed a successful campaign and supplied the Army with an Ambulance by purchasing $1,780.00 in War Savings Stamps and Bonds in a given time. On Tuesday, March 28th, a formal presentation was held at the school house. Mrs. Elmer C. Bartels in charge of the stamp drive at the school presented to the Army from the school a plaque to be placed in the Ambulance which reads, "Field Ambulance presented to the United States Army by the Oak Hill School, Newton Centre, Mass., through the purchase of War Bonds."

Mrs. Edgar P. Hay accepted the plaque and presented the school with a Treasury Citation. Richard Willis presented Captain Alden Dinsmore. This was Captain Dinsmore's second visit to the school and the children are anxious to have him come again. The school orchestra played selections under the leadership of Alvin D. Parker, instructor of Music in the Newton schools. Evelyn Roberts, chairman of the program and Mrs. A. H. Maloney of the War Finance Committee were present.

Rotary Club

Mr. Warren Oliver introduced the guest speaker, Dr. D. Brewer Eddy, Chairman of the American Board of Foreign Missions, at the Rotary Club luncheon Monday, April 3, 1944. "The principal of co-operation superseding international isolationism is a prerequisite for peace" was the theme of Dr. Eddy's talk. In a forceful plea for the principle of co-operation, Dr. Eddy said that it was the only path to safety toward peace. He said that the co-operation would have to come in relation to Great Britain, Russia, China, and thru unity at home.

Having had wide experience in Russia, Dr. Eddy stated that Russia can be our greatest friend or our greatest danger. He said there were some encouraging signs that Russia was anxious to be our friend. He also explained that the United Nations would have to agree on a united policy of reconstruction after the war, which means international economic co-operation. While he believed that this kind of a program was possible, he expressed the fear that the same kind of difficulties which have beset the last war would be present again. If we succumb to a selfish policy of independent action we would be sure to have pieces rather than peace.

Dr. Charles D. Ansley of Auburndale, a charter member of the Newton Rotary Club, was congratulated on becoming a grandfather, and Dr. Frank Clark reported that the grandfather was doing as well as could be expected, but he would live. The new arrival—a little girl—is the daughter of Lt. and Mrs. Jack Sundborg (Jane Ansley).

Two Newton Rotarians have been taken for jury duty for the next six weeks—Lou Haffermehl and Philip Ahlin.

Among the visiting Rotarians at the meeting were John Tufts, Jim Grouver and James O'Connell of the Watertown Club; T. E. Kelar and Louis Bachsach of Boston; Arthur Robinson, a former Newton Rotarian; Wilbur Thompson, an honorary Newton Rotarian, as well as Louis Martin, guest of Al Breed; Dr. T. D. Wilcox, guest of Frank Clark, and Cedric Proulx of New Zealand, a member of the Royal Navy, guest of Dr. Ted Leonard.

COURSE FOR OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY VOLUNTEER ASSISTANTS

The need for trained volunteers in hospital occupational therapy departments in and around Boston is being felt very strongly. For the demands of military hospitals are leaving depleted the staffs of graduate therapists in the civilian field. To meet this need, the Massachusetts Association for Occupational Therapy is conducting its sixth course of training for Occupational Therapy Volunteer Assistants early in April. We need many candidates as possible for this course.

Do you like to use your hands? If so, perhaps volunteering in a hospital occupational therapy department would appeal to you as something new and different.

In response to great demand, the Massachusetts Association for Occupational Therapy is planning its sixth course of training for Occupational Therapy Volunteer Assistants. Because graduate therapists are being called into military hospitals, Occupational Therapy Directors are using many of these trained volunteers to supplement their depleted staffs.

The course will be held at the Boston Y. W. C. A., 140 Clarendon st., and in several occupational therapy departments, from April 17th through May 27th, with classes from 9 to 1 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings. The fee is $10 which covers cost of materials and uniform.

Those interested are requested to report for a personal interview at the office of the Massachusetts Association for Occupational Therapy, 419 Boylston st., Boston. Please make inquiries at this address of Miss Elizabeth McCreary, O. T. R., director of the course.

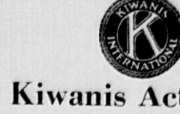

NEWTON JUNIOR COMMUNITY CLUB

"Letter from Libya," a sound film, was shown Monday evening, April 3rd, through the courtesy of the American Field Service by Mr. Allen N. Anderson of M. I. T., before members of the Newton Junior Community Club. The meeting was held at eight o'clock in the Newton Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

Originating in Paris in 1914, the American Field Service during peacetime sent students to France to study medicine and architecture at universities there. Four years ago they registered to carry on relief activities and to work side by side with our own service men and those of our Allies. It is an independent group for which men volunteer and receive no remuneration. Ambulances are furnished through contributions of interested people and many of the drivers have been decorated for valor.

Excerpts of letters received from Leslie White, an ambulance driver, whose sister, Miss Rhoda White, is recording secretary of the Junior Club, were read by their mother, Mrs. Frederick White of 73 Sargent st., Newton. The descriptions added to the picture previously presented. A coincidence related was that the Civil War throughout which Lee received considerable strength, solace, and inspiration from the Bible. Mr. Farnum spoke at length upon the effect of the Bible in the life of Lincoln and emphasized the number of times that the Bible was quoted directly or indirectly by Lincoln in his speeches.

Mr. Farnum's presentation was particularly appropriate, coming as it did during Holy Week, and provided much material for thought on the part of club members.

Kiwanis Activities

A fine attendance marked the first Kiwanis Club meeting in April, held last Tuesday noon. Ben Louis presided at the meeting and announced that May 2nd has tentatively been set as a date for another ladies' night program.

The speaker of the day was introduced by Jim Gallagher. He presented the Hon. George Farnum, former Assistant Attorney-General of the United States. Mr. Farnum spoke on "The Bible in the Lives of Great Men." His presentation showed him at once to be very familiar with the Bible, not only as a piece of good literature, but also as a code of conduct. He outlined ways in which great men of the past have found help and guidance in the Old and New Testaments.

He outlined some of the religious philosophy of such men as Benjamin Franklin, Thomas Jefferson, George Washington, John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster, Robert E. Lee, and Abraham Lincoln, and suggested that men of this generation can also find help and inspiration in the Bible if they will search for it. He spoke about the Jefferson Bible prepared by Thomas Jefferson, and mentioned a book of prayers written by Washington.

He outlined the experiences of Robert E. Lee at the time of the Civil War throughout which Lee received considerable strength, solace, and inspiration from the Bible. Mr. Farnum spoke at length upon the effect of the Bible in the life of Lincoln and emphasized the number of times that the Bible was quoted directly or indirectly by Lincoln in his speeches.

Hot Containers

Before removing a container of hot food from the stove, be sure there is a place sufficient in size to set it. Where work space is limited, someone may be scalded while attempting to have the space cleared hurriedly. Another safeguard is to make it a rule to turn off the flame of the gas stove before the utensil is removed. Otherwise the worker's sleeve or the pot-holder may catch fire and cause a serious burn before the fire can be extinguished.

Use Right Soap

One of the first steps in reducing soap waste is to use the right soap and the right amount of soap for each washing job. For laundry work where a washing machine is used, two inches of suds are plenty to do a good job. And in hand laundering it isn't necessary to use a whole bowl of thick suds to wash a pair of hose, two or three handkerchiefs or a sheer blouse.

High Death Toll

Studies on swine mortality have shown that an average of only 60 per cent of the pigs farrowed each year live to market age.

Serve Raw

Since some vitamins and minerals are apt to be lost in the cooking, the extent of loss depending largely on the method used—it is a good plan to serve some of these green and yellow vegetables raw occasionally. Crisp, cold carrot strips are a welcome addition to any luncheon or dinner. The green leafy vegetables, such as endive and escarole, can be worked into salads frequently without the family feeling like rabbits.

Kachins Tough Mountain Fighters; Harass Japanese

Kachin tribesmen of Upper Burma are harassing the Japs by lashing out at their would-be conquerors in sudden forays from their mountain fastnesses along the Burma-China border.

Kachins undoubtedly tricked the Japs in time-tested tribal style—by selecting a spot where the trail hangs half way up a canyon wall and digging out underneath it so the trail slides into the river below. When the enemy column gets to this point it is pounced on by Kachins from the rear and above.

Unlike the smaller Lisu tribe, which lives across the border in China and which is also fighting the Japs, the Kachins inhabit remote, mountain areas because they like it, not because they were forced there by stronger tribes. There are about a million Kachins but their strength lies in aggressiveness rather than in numbers. They have never been united in a political or military sense. Normally, they like to fight each other too well to bother with outside enemies. Even families within villages developed blood feuds of the Corsican or "Hatfield-McCoy" variety.

Kachin men are about five feet four inches in height, tough and wiry. Women are a few inches shorter. They are of a confused Tibetan-Chinese-Mongolian stock. They live in communal bamboo buildings without rooms. Each family is allotted one of the many fireplaces within the structure and this is "home."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

When the American Expeditionary Force landed in Ireland recently newspapers reported the citizenry remarked at the similarity of the steel helmets worn by our boys with those worn by German troops. These steel hats are protection from shrapnel fragments and other light missiles. We need thousands of them for they are a regular issue to every American soldier.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The frown grew between Naomi's brows. A fear, a coldness began to take hold of her heart.

"Whatever are you talking about?" "About Dunc. We quarreled, you know. Oh, it was over such a silly little thing. But it grew and grew, and Dunc told Ethan about it, and I told Ethan and he talked and talked. About you. I mean, it was you and him that convinced us. He was so contented and happy, and he said we could be, too, if we had any sense and intelligence. He said there wasn't any formula but love, and that if we wanted to be happy it was up to us, not him or anyone else."

Her voice ran on, forming a faint, irritating background of sound for Naomi's thoughts, for other little voices that talked to her accusingly, that laughed scornfully and called her unfair and a cheat and disloyal.

Then abruptly she was standing and Regina had stopped and was looking at her with open mouth.

"Waiter! Please! My check! Hurry! Oh, do hurry!"

She hired a taxi. It was a reckless thing to do, because they were economizing for their plans for next summer. But even so she was too late. Ethan's coupe was in front of the house.

Her heart was in her throat and dread was in her heart. She opened the door and there was Ethan sprawled out in the big chair. He looked at her solemnly.

"Shh!" he said. "Don't say a word. If you do we'll never get to first base with the mutt. After all, he's old enough to learn now."

Her brain whirled crazily, then stopped. Beneath the piano Rusty's stubby tail thumped tentatively. He peered out at her from great, sorrowful, guilty eyes. At his feet was a twisted, shapeless sodden mass of paper—the letter she had left on the little table beside the big chair.

Rusty

By R. H. WILKINSON

Associated Newspapers. WNU Features.

ABSRDLY Naomi thought she hated leaving Rusty almost as much as she did Ethan. Ethan was her husband. Rusty was the three-month-old springer spaniel. Ethan had brought him home as a surprise the week after they returned from their honeymoon. She loved him from the moment his pink tongue eagerly licked the hand she put out in her first gesture of friendship. She loved him even when she discovered that a three-month-old puppy has little discrimination in matters of diet. Rusty attempted to masticate everything from the ends of the new chintz curtains to the fuzzy bristles of the fireplace broom.

Occasionally she became exasperated, like the time he chewed into a shapeless sodden mass the book of old-fashioned recipes her Aunt Sara had given her. Then she would scold and Rusty would retreat beneath the piano and peer out at her with silky ears drooping and great brown eyes sad and remorseful, and a lump would come into her throat.

Yes, now that she had decided to leave Ethan she must leave Rusty too. There must be no reminders, no connecting link in the things she took away. It was going to be hard enough breaking away without torturing herself with memories of what might have been.

So Naomi sat at her desk and wrote: "Dear Ethan: "I had thought I would be able to take it. I had promised myself that if ever another woman came between us I would blame myself, condemn myself for having failed, and try to win you back. What a fool I was! Goodbye, dear. It was fun while it lasted."

She placed the note on the little table near the big chair where Ethan always sat to read his paper. Her bag was in the hall, packed and ready. Rusty leaped and yelped about her feet. She didn't dare look at him, nor glance into the room. She opened the door and went out quickly.

The train for Weymouth left at 1:30. She wasn't hungry, but decided to drop in at Flagg's for a sandwich. It wouldn't be sensible to go without lunch; from now on she must be sensible in everything she did. Sensible and practical and matter-of-fact. Any other mode of living would be one more reminder of what she was leaving behind.

She hadn't thought of meeting anyone in Flagg's. She hadn't planned on what she would do if this happened. And now, watching Regina Duncan coming across the room, she felt her muscles stiffen; her hands were suddenly like ice. Regina, the other woman!

Naomi was a little proud of her voice, her smile, her complete control. This was fate. This was the hardest test of all, coming so soon. If she could survive this she could survive all the years to come.

"Darling, how nice you look! Think of meeting you here like this, today. I must tell you. I promised Ethan I wouldn't, but I must. He was so wonderful! Ethan, I mean."

Uncertainly Naomi's brows came together in a little frown. But she still smiled, still kept her voice under control.

"Tell me what, darling?" "About Dunc and me. About Ethan. Oh, Naomi, how lucky you are! How he must love you. He was so kind and patient and helpful."

The frown grew between Naomi's brows. A fear, a coldness began to take hold of her heart.

"Whatever are you talking about?" "About Dunc. We quarreled, you know. Oh, it was over such a silly little thing. But it grew and grew, and Dunc told Ethan about it, and I told Ethan and he talked and talked. About you. I mean, it was you and him that convinced us. HOLD BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very enjoyable birthday party was given on Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Birdsall, 111 Court st., Newtonville, in honor of Mr. Birdsall's birthday. Jokes were given and games played followed by piano selections by Miss Corlene Birdsall and Master Richard Birdsall, also some beautiful colored pictures of Mexico were shown by Mrs. W. E. Birdsall. During the refreshments which were served in the dining room, cafeteria style, from a beautifully arranged table, a bushel basket was brought in filled with comical gifts which were opened by Mr. Birdsall. The affair helped lighten the spirits of the guests in this tense war time.

Your regular investment of ten percent or more of your earnings in War Bonds through your Payroll Savings Plan will provide the necessary funds to buy those tires later and help win the war now. Let's "Top that Ten Percent."

Capt. Giddings Wounded in Italy

Capt. W. Philip Giddings, a former member of the surgical staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital, was one of four physicians wounded during the shelling and bombing on February 10 of an army hospital at the Anzio beachhead, according to word received by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold B. Giddings of 29 Berwick rd., Newton Centre. Capt. Giddings in a letter to his parents stated that he was a spectator at the first attack on the hospital, was wounded during the second attack and was a patient in the same hospital when it was attacked the third time. A bomb he said had fallen only eight feet from him and a fragment of it had passed completely through his body without inflicting vital injury. He was on duty at the time and had been operating on wounded soldiers. The doctors he wrote had been working in 24 hr. stretches with 12 hours off between shifts.

Capt. Giddings, who is 31, was born in Boston and was graduated from the Newton High School in 1930, from Amherst College in 1934 and Harvard Medical School in 1938. While at Newton High he was editor of the Newtonite and at Amherst was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. He served his internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital and was assistant resident in surgery there when he entered the Army. He was commissioned in September, 1942 and after being stationed in Atlanta, Georgia, went overseas in February, 1943, landing in North Africa. He was in the first landing party in the invasion of Sicily and also served at Salerno.

He is married and has a year old son, Robert Fiske Giddings, born a few weeks after his father went overseas. Mrs. Giddings, the former Elizabeth Fiske of Hudson Falls, New York, was a former nurse at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Capt. Giddings has a brother, 2nd Lt. Robert Giddings serving in North Africa with the intelligence division of the Air Forces. Their father, Dr. Harold B. Giddings is a surgeon in Boston and Newton and is a member of the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

Save now to buy later, after the War. That's good common sense because if you spend now, you help to drive prices up for everything you buy. Durable goods are scarce so invest in War Bonds today and do that house remodeling when Victory is won.

Is Candidate For Lt.-Governor

I am taking this opportunity of announcing my candidacy for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor of Massachusetts. It is my purpose to see to it that within the next few months the Republican electorate of Massachusetts will share the knowledge of my record and background already possessed by my good Republican neighbors in Essex County.

I cannot promise a spectacular campaign or one wherein the stereotyped formula of unlimited wealth or machine politics predominates.

I can promise, however, to fairly and vigorously discuss the manifold problems of the home-front and their present acute relation to the state government. I have served 14 years as an elective official in the city of Beverly; four years as Ward Alderman; two as Alderman-at-Large, and am now serving my eighth year as Mayor. During the period of my stewardship, the tax rate has remained consistent, welfare has been generously and efficiently administered, recreational centers and public health have been fostered, the schools have kept pace with statewide advancement in education, the physical condition of the city is excellent and today our debt is the lowest in the city's history, even lower than when Beverly was a town.

My Republican friends throughout Essex County have urged me to thus announce my candidacy. They believe that I can well serve the people of Massachusetts as their Lieutenant-Governor. I solicit the aid and assistance of all the people of Massachusetts who are interested in a fair and impartial administration of their affairs.

Mayor Daniel E. McLean of Beverly was born in Beverly on March 22, 1898, son of the late Patrolman and Mrs. Daniel McLean, was educated in the public schools of Beverly and attended Salem Commercial School. He is married and has two daughters. His only son, Aviation Cadet Lawrence G. McLean, died in the service of his country, on December 13, 1943.

During the past three state campaigns he has spoken on the radio for Governor Bennett and two years ago was the only person to appear on the radio in the interest of his neighbor and good friend, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who is now serving with the armed forces in Europe. DANIEL E. McLEAN

No Drug Expurges Malaria Spores From Bloodstreams

No drug, including quinine, is "entirely satisfactory" in the treatment of malaria. The drug has a very definite effect, but it does not promptly stamp out the two forms of parasite present in the bloodstream of a man suffering from the virulent tropical form of malaria.

The asexual spores introduced into the blood by the bite of an infected anopheles mosquito cause a periodic rupture of the red blood corpuscles, which produces paroxysms of high fever in the patient. The frequency of the fevered periods determines whether the type of malaria is mild or virulent.

In addition, sexual spores develop in the patient's bloodstream, with the result that even after he has recovered, he may be bitten by an uninfected mosquito, which in turn becomes infected and bites another victim, thus spreading the disease by a "vicious circle of carriers." The patient may also experience periodic relapses at intervals of several months and occasionally years.

Clear Channel Station

All radio stations in the United States broadcast over frequencies allotted by the Federal Communications commission which are, in effect, roads through the skies. Since the number of broadcasting stations exceeds so greatly the number of channels, or roads, it is necessary for some stations to share these channels. A "clear channel station" shares its frequency with no other station in the United States and its purpose is to provide radio service for rural areas.

Deer Skinning

When skinning deer, don't cut the hide or leave adhering flesh. Hides should be rolled, hair side out, kept cool and delivered immediately to a dealer. If delivery is postponed for several days, cover the flesh side thoroughly with salt, making sure all flesh is removed and all creases reached. Keep dry and cool, and cover with paper to avoid over-rapid drying. After eight or ten days, shake off salt, wrap (hair side out) in small bundle and get it to dealer.

263 NEWTON VOLUNTEERS AWARDED CERTIFICATES

Before a large group of friends, 263 Red Cross volunteers were awarded certificates on last Wednesday night at Memorial Hall of City Hall.

The exercises were opened by Mrs. Wm. L. Young, chairman, who welcomed the graduates and their friends. After the invocation, pronounced by the Rev. Randolph Merrill, one of the speakers of the evening was introduced. Miss Mary Mills Hatch of Boston, a Red Cross overseas worker recently returned from service in the Libyan Desert, gave a graphic picture of her life as a recreation worker with the U. S. Army abroad.

The next speaker, Capt. Alden C. Dinsmore, U.S.A., told the audience what Red Cross means to the men in service, especially in the South Pacific where he saw it in action.

Charles Raymond Cabot, chairman of the Newton Chapter, then awarded the certificates, explaining briefly just what each Corps means to the community.

After the exercises, refreshments were served by the Waban Centenary Unit.

NEWTON CENTRE TO GREENLAND

The War Service Committee of the Newton Centre Woman's Club heard through a committee member about the very urgent need of any form of recreation, at a very remote Coast Guard Base in far-off Greenland. The plea was made by a man who had returned from the base for hospital treatment.
The committee forwarded to this base some three months ago, thirty-six double-faced records, yesterday the following letter was received by the committee, which was very gratifying to all club members:

Yesterday the thirty-six phonograph records, which you so kindly donated to our ship, arrived. Each man on the ship joins me in expressing gratitude for your thoughtfulness in sending us these records.

The records arrived in excellent shape without a single one broken.
Needless to say, our phonograph attachment is having quite a workout and the boys are really enjoying the excellent music which you have provided us. I wish you could have seen what a swell reception your records received from the boys. I know it would have warmed your hearts, just as receiving the records warmed all our hearts.

The selection of the records has been assigned the mark of "excellent" by all hands. It is quite apparent that you have an insight into the musical taste of our music-loving service men. The selection of records just couldn't have been better.

Thank you again for thinking of our boys out here. Your act in sending us these records will not only provide us with many pleasant hours, but it also serves to remind us that those of you there at home are thinking of the boys who are your boys—the boys who so constantly think of all of you back home.

59 UNION STREET — NEWTON CENTRE

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, April 12, 1889.

The farewell service to Rev.
Father Grafton, Newton, has been changed to Saturday morning in order that Bishop Paddock may be present. It will be held in the Church of the Advent, Boston.

Murray & Farrell have been building a handsome wagonette for Mr. G. W. Bush, which will be exhibited in front of Eliot block, tomorrow. It will carry eight people and will be a great addition to Mr. Bush's supply of livery teams, as it is just what people have been wanting.

Incandescent electric lights will soon be put into the clubhouse of the Newton Club. The light is soft and brilliant and the heat is avoided, a satisfactory recommendation to members who use the rooms during the evenings.

Mr. Edwin Fewkes, Newton Highlands, has sold one of his chrysanthemum plants to a New York house, for $150. Mr. Fewkes has some of the most valuable plants of that kind in this part of the country.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic April 12, 1894.
G. P. Atkins (Newton) is selling fresh eggs for Easter, 7 dozen for one dollar.

The Auburndale shoe store is a model of attractiveness. Recent additions include a new awning, a handsome white and gold sign, a large and complete stock of spring footwear for men and women.

The first National bank of West Newton will have a representative of the bank at John F. Payne's drug store from 8 to 11 every morning to accommodate its Newton patrons in the way of receiving deposits and cashing checks, and this will doubtless prove a popular feature with the Newton-ville public, as it will save a special trip to West Newton.

When the widening of Washington st. becomes an accomplished fact, it will be necessary to provide new buildings to take the place of those removed as a result of the improvement. The Associates will be on deck. They propose to erect a fine block for stores and apartments on the site of the old Gen. Hull mansion, once the home of the Newton Club. It will be the finest structure in the square. The stores will be located on Walnut st. and the entrances to the apartments will be on Austin st. The building will be fireproof and up to date in modern conveniences.

The great elm tree on the line of the new boulevard, near the point where it crosses Centre st.
(Newton Centre), an ancient landmark, was cut down this week. It could not survive the march of modern improvement.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, April 11, 1919.

Those residents of Oak Hill who oppose the expenditure of at least $175,000 for the improvement of the main street of that district are being tucked away in the darkness. Do you remember that the late lamented William Allen
White of Kansas referred to Gov.
Bricker of Ohio in those threnchant words? What do some of our most powerful Republican leaders think of the Republican voter will tell you. Till you what
SOME of them are planning to do.
I am definitely NOT referring to
in-and-out Republicans either.
They will vote, with some misgiving, for Mr. Roosevelt, despite their distaste for a fourth term.
Let the Republican big-wigs, currently gloating over the withdrawal of Wendell Willkie, laugh
off that one.

Have I forgotten about Gov.
Dewey? Not at all. I am quite aware of the fact that many of the papers have already given him the G.O.P. nomination.
That's great. However, there are some flies in the ointment. First of all, Gov. Dewey has NOT YET repudiated his solemn pledge to finish out his four-year term in Albany. Secondly, Gov. Dewey is smart. He knows that it is possible that nothing on earth may stop the re-election of President Roosevelt this fall, especially if the war is still in a critical phase.
Why should Dewey stick his neck out, run the risk of defeat and immediately sink into political oblivion, when all he has to do is to continue to be smart, play his cards shrewdly and walk off with the 1948 nomination on the protective silver platter? Very well.
Assume that Dewey "stays put."
What do our G.O.P. leaders do then? That is a tough problem.
Tearing down Willkie may be easier than building up some other substantial Republican candidate. Mull that over, gentlemen.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Wendell L. Willkie

The withdrawal of Wendell L.
Willkie from the race for the Republican nomination was, of course, the most sensational political development of the past week. Inasmuch as it must have been obvious to the most casual viewer for the past two years that the writer was an ardent Willkie admirer, may I be pardoned if I speak very frankly, personally and from the heart. Incidentally, I think it is safe to say that there are today hundreds of thousands of Republican and independent voters throughout the country who are, like the writer, sick at heart.

Let us look back a bit. Four years ago, when frantic efforts were being made to head off a third term for the Roosevelt, the G. O. P. appeared to be relatively bankrupt so far as outstanding candidates were concerned. Dewey was too young and was labelled as a handsome Boy Scout. Taft was too conservative and colorless. Vandenberg was too much of a failure to fire the popular imagination and the other potential candidates were unimportant. Like a bolt from the blue came Wendell Willkie. In no time at all his candidacy waxed stronger and stronger, and the twining of an eye he swept on to capture the nomination. He made a powerful, dynamic campaign which revived the moribund Republican enthusiasts and seemed destined to overthrow the New Deal dynasty. Willkie failed to make the grade; tho' he did pile up one of the most sensational votes ever recorded by a Republican nominee.

What happened after the battle was over? Like a good soldier, Willkie threw himself into the war effort, backed the Roosevelt policies everywhere, insofar as they dealt with the vigorous prosecution of our all-out war, travelled all over the globe to spread the gospel of democratic Americanism and did more to hearten the average citizen than any other ten men.

What now? We all want to know, what the future holds in store for this remarkable American. Is he completely out of the political picture? I doubt it. He is too big a man to disappear so quickly. However, it was disconcerting to read a news story in a Boston paper last week containing these words: "And while there is evidence of their fear of a bolt, organization and strategy and a general feeling of uneasiness waived Willkie out of the presidential contest with much relief, some cheers and few misgivings."

For what little it may be worth, may I present my own views on this subject? In my judgment, the machine Republicans have struck a body-blow at themselves. They have stopped Willkie to be sure, but they have also stopped a few other things. Possibly they have stopped the increasing confidence and enthusiasm of a vast number of rank and file Republicans and independents. Possibly they have thrown a chill into the hearts and souls of countless Americans who are now wondering what will happen to the cause of the interventionists and collaborationists after the war is over.

Let's follow up this thought a step further. Suppose that the G.O.P. nominates "an honest Harding," now that Willkie has been tucked away in the darkness. Do you remember that the late lamented William Allen
White of Kansas referred to Gov.
Bricker of Ohio in those threnchant words? What do some of our most powerful Republican leaders think of the Republican voter will tell you. Till you what
SOME of them are planning to do.
I am definitely NOT referring to
in-and-out Republicans either.
They will vote, with some misgiving, for Mr. Roosevelt, despite their distaste for a fourth term.
Let the Republican big-wigs, currently gloating over the withdrawal of Wendell Willkie, laugh
off that one.

Have I forgotten about Gov.
Dewey? Not at all. I am quite aware of the fact that many of

Saltonstall and Weeks

For the benefit of those readers who may not see Time magazine regularly, may I say that the April 10 issue contains a long article about our wartime Governor and that his picture is on the cover. Senator Weeks, also, was well publicized in the papers for an important speech on universal military training.

Kiwanis Activities

Walter Hood, president, called the Club to order on Tuesday, April 11th, at the usual time. Ben Louis read a letter from George Van Hook, who is now stationed at Camp Crowder, Missouri.
George sent his best wishes and wants club members to write to him.

Ed Dorschner reported on a conference with Pete Pettengill in connection with the ladies' night Jim Gallagher introduced the speaker of the day, Mr. Paul Dempsey of the Waltham Agricultural Field Staff, who spoke about victory gardens and food production in general. Mr. Dempsey feels that although conditions at present are better than they were last year at this time, the need for victory gardens will be greater than before. He said that last year backyard gardeners produced ed almost as much food as the amount of food canned in American homes almost equaled the amount of food canned commercially.

Mr. Dempsey discussed the surplus of eggs and pork and ven-dored a guess that people will, because of these surpluses, be discouraged from raising chickens and pigs this year. He feels, however, that there will be a real need for these products. The most serious shortage this year as far as the market gardeners are concerned is in the field of labor and it is therefore important that victory gardeners help make up this deficiency by raising their own food.

He gave farmers credit for extending their acreage last year and explained some of the problems confronting the farmer today. Fertilizer is plentiful this year in contrast with the shortage last year.
"Tons of beans and potatoes," he said, "were the most popular items in victory gardens last year." He said "that at least three years are required before one can judge accurately whether a certain vegetable can be produced satisfactorily on a certain plot of ground. After the soil is properly fertilized, rotation is relatively unimportant."

He mentioned strawberries, grapes and pears as the best fruit to raise. In general tree fruits is far too risky for this locality because of insects and disease.

Rotary Club

At the meeting of the Newton
Rotary Club Monday Harold
Graham introduced the speaker, Erwin D. Canham, managing editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

Mr. Canham was formerly chief of the Monitor's Washington Bureau; Past President of Overseas Writers, member of the Iron Club and a radio commentator from Washington. He took for his subject "April 10, 1944, as a Newspaper Man." Hanson Baldwin, a columnist in New York papers, issued in his column last Sunday a statement to the effect that "the Germans would not give up Odessa for a long time."

Sunday evening Germany announced the evacuation of Odessa.
This point was to show how the newspaper man is about as much in the dark as the man in the street. He mentioned from firsthand information that President Roosevelt's family is trying to persuade him not to run for a fourth term but he has not made up his mind. An informed man from Oregon told Mr. Canham that Roosevelt could not carry that state. Maybe the statement that any Republican can win this year is right. After a few enjoyable quotations about the present administration from Go-Hope, Mr. Canham spoke on the purpose of newspaper being a constant attempt to discover and print facts. Today there is some decline in this digging, due to syndication. Newspapers will fail unless more alert reporting and investigation is undertaken.
Conspiracy in military circles is impeding the publishing of facts so that a newsman is hard put to decide when to print some news. Example, Patten's unimpaired conduct and apology was printed too late for the Allied command to continue to use him as a decoy for German divisions when Patten moved his headquarters. Mr.
Canham spoke of the situation in Italy as due to unwillingness of the Allied Command to tie up larger forces for military reasons.

In the domestic side Willkie has helped the Republicans to the Promised Land time, like Moses, he may not participate in its arrival. The Wisconsin vote does not mean a return to isolationism.
Dewey has enough votes pledged to be the Republican Candidate.
The thinking of Congress is more significant than that of the president regardless of party for the next few years. The Republicans cannot get a majority in the Senate this fall nor the Democrats in the House. Roosevelt has been the main obstacle to the needed war unity. Mr. Canham ended his talk with the hope that both Congress and the president shall see and agree on a unified basis for operation.

Visiting Rotarians were Edward Whitney, James Clifford, James O'Connell, Fred Kenney and Ray
Blanchard, all of Watertown.
Walter McCammon, one of Newton's past presidents, Dwight S.
Bentley, John Hunter, guest of Harold Gores, and Harry Heymann of Easton, Pa.

"loved" a stroll through the cool grass. Yes, brethren, the war is taking its toll. As a matter of fact, when the girls sway to that old tune, "I'm Dancing With Tears in my Eyes" and they moan a little, the chances are it's not because of the lyrics or the melody, but simply that their shoes are killing them.

—AROUND TOWN—

Gil Champagne is a sergeant in the Signal Corps. . . . Corporal Ora Lupien of the WAC, stationed at Sioux Falls, N. D., a daughter of Patrolman Wilfred Lupien, has announced her engagement to Pvt. John J. Craige of Los Angeles, Calif. Both are serving at the same Air Base. . . . Easter greetings have been received, locally, from George Benham, now of Bridgeport, Conn. George formerly toiled in the local Waldorf as night cashier for many years. . . . Chief Petty Officer Jack McGrath is fire arms instructor at Floyd Bennett Field, N. Y. McGrath is one of the country's outstanding pistol experts. He also manages the volley ball team there. . . . Charles Feeley is a member of the ground crew in the Air Force down in Tampa, Fla. Charlie's wife, an Army nurse, is a second lieutenant at Camp Edwards, Mass. . . . Herb Swift is playing shortstop for an Army team in England. . . . Chief Michael T. —LIGHTS—

The lights are on again, as almost everybody knows by now, and while it's pleasing to most, there are some, as you might well guess, who are not in favor of the idea at all. Among them, prominent in the ranks, are the young service men who escort their girl guests home to this end of the trolley line. A girl just doesn't bring a young man home when the hour is late and inasmuch as there's nowhere to go in the Corner after midnight, they usually say "good bye" in a convenient doorway. The doorways, incidentally, are popular places nowadays and although in peacetimes, you'd probably find a limb of the law haunting those particular hideaways, the constabulary is a bit lenient, at this time, because of the war and all. So, as the story goes, one recent evening, a sailor and his gal alighting from the Boston trolley, promptly hid themselves to the nearest doorway. It was apparent that they were not very well acquainted and that the sailor was doing his best to remedy the situation. He was doing all right, too, and everything might have gone along smoothly, if only he'd chosen some other — any other, doorway.

FLASH . . .

A seasoned campaigner would have been more observant and shied away from the place of the sailor's choice, for a taxi concern had installed a telephone in that doorway and because of complaints by neighboring tenants, that the ringing of the bell was disturbing, had changed it over in favor of a flashing light. Unaware of the menace, the sailor and the gal were just about forgetting the rest of the world, when someone decided to call a cab and the light, a hundred-watt affair, flashed on! There are some onlookers who swear that the girl jumped three feet. Others conservatively estimate it was but two. All are agreed, however, that she came down running and was traveling at a speed greater than the law allows when she crossed the town line.

though at best their sacrifices, real and some fancied, pale when matched against the thousands of our, until lately, neighbors on the firing line. Nevertheless, the seriousness of the situation is disturbing the conscience of those hitherto untroubled as more and more boys march to the front. Local scenes shift changes crowd upon us, although Crystal Lake shore (east) still suggests a blitz visitation. The boy and girl of yesterday, after school, are clerks in the Supermarkets, while here and there a youth of downless lip, functions as soda jerk in a community drug store. Scores of men, retired a few years ago, are now "doing their bit" in defense plants—and cheerful in this helping to win the war. Spring "is getting the break," after the worst snow storm of the season a few weeks ago. The calls cheerfully, the sweet note of the oriole delights one's ear, green grass the grass upon southern slopes, the toy balloon again is seen on the busy corner—and yes, as to the baseball outlook. Again at Eastertide the lily shoots its stem upwards from the watery mire and will soon bloom in its purity and give out its fragrance; a seemingly dread, dead earth, unkempt and littered in spots, is born to life again, and renews man's eternal hope in seedtime and harvest. All cheerful and comforting to protected homelike unexposed to danger. But what consolation does Easter announce for those steering a "diversion" on the front line? Gethsemane and Calvary! 1944 review! The tribulations, wounds, loneliness and sacrifice of the few, will contribute to the birth of a better tomorrow, as embodied in the "Four Freedoms."

NEWTON BOMBARDIER-THEATRIAN MORE FRIGHTENED ON BROADWAY

A Newton bombardier on a Liberator bomber, who was a former actor, was less afraid on his first mission over enemy territory than at his first Broadway opening, according to a dispatch from the Italian front. Lt. Charles Stepanian of Waban ave., Waban, describing his reactions said: "I was more scared on my first Broadway opening in New York City than on my first combat mission." Lt. Stepanian was a star actor at Bowdoin College and later was a director and actor on the professional stage. He directed the New England Repertory Theatre and after he entered the Army on Mar. 19, 1942, took leading roles in service shows. He has completed three missions over the Italian front in the Liberator, "The Flying Theatrical."

THERE'S NO RUSH TO GET THIS JOB

Dr. Roland A. Lombard has been reappointed slaughtering inspector for the city of Newton, but not because he did his work so well during the past year. There happen to be no duties or salary connected with the office, as there are no slaughterhouses in Newton. Nevertheless, the state law requires that an inspector of slaughtering be appointed and the Board of Health has each year selected for the nominal position the person who happened to be holding the office of inspector of animals, which is the salaried position that Dr. Lombard holds.

Halloran when the car in which they were riding was halted on the Worcester turnpike near Colverdale rd., Newton Highlands. The alleged operator, a resident of Natick, was arraigned in the Newton District Court today on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor and her case was continued until April 14. She was ordered to furnish bail of $325. Her companion was charged with drunkenness and her case was also continued until April 14. There were arrested about 4 p.m.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

Beaux Arts, a program of music and dance, brought record-breaking crowds to Newton High School for two performances. The department of the school arranged decorations in the foyer, and decorative publicity, and designed the costumes and setting of the various dances. The Newton High Workshop and the Stage Crew produced the desired lighting and stage effects. The Home Economics Department had the management of costuming the entire production. First on the program were the dances, directed by Miss Jane Forte; Mrs. Florence Holland Krawiczky, pianist. Final event of the program was Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, Trial by Jury, conducted by Mr. Remley, and coached by Miss Louise Wetherbee. Mr. Herbert Clark sang the role of the judge and Principal Raymond A. Green was the usher. Other leading roles were: Plaintiff, Lillian Marsh; Counsel for Plaintiff, Howard Abbott; Defendant, James Crafts; Foreman of the jury, Albert Everett.

The members of the senior class at Newton High School have voted to depart from custom and closed caps and gowns at the graduation exercises this year. In past years the rule has been for the girls to appear in white and the boys to wear dark suits at the exercises.

A PRAYER

By
Rev. Randolph S. Merrill
Central Congregational Church, Newtonville

O Almighty God, who in Christ Jesus hast given us a great Light to guide us in our darkness, we dedicate ourselves anew this day to his service. With thy help we pledge ourselves to live each day that we may keep the light of faith, hope and love clearly shining in our lives and may help thereby to dispel the darkness of injustice, fear and hate which enshrouds our world. Give us grace, we earnestly pray, to keep this pledge, in the name and spirit of Christ our Lord. Amen.

(This prayer has been repeated by the congregation of Central Church every Sunday morning since Christmas Sunday, 1941, and will be used for the duration of the war.)

CAPT. W. PHILIP GIDDINGS WOUNDED

Capt. W. Philip Giddings, former member of the surgical staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital, was one of the four physicians wounded in the Nazi shelling and bombing of the Army hospital at the Anzio beachhead in Italy, in which two nurses were killed, according to word received by his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold G. Giddings, 29 Berwick rd., Newton Centre.

Capt. Giddings, who is 31, is married and has a one-year-old son, Robert Fiske Giddings, born a few weeks after he went overseas, was wounded Feb. 10. He wrote his parents that he was a spectator at the first attack on the hospital, was wounded in the second, and was a patient in the self-same hospital when it was attacked a third time.

NEWTON MARINES PARTY SERVES THREE PURPOSES

A party tendered Pfc. George F. Paterson, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Paterson of 22 Bowers st., Newtonville, at his home served a three-fold purpose. The event marked his engagement to a Cambridge girl, his 21st birthday, which will be on April 17, and his departure tonight to return to duty on an aircraft carrier. His bride-to-be is Miss Doris Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Noyes of 58 Winthrop st., Cambridge, who was present at the party.

FIVE SETS OF BROTHERS WORKING IN HOSPITAL SOMEWHERE IN GREAT BRITAIN

One of the oddities of a hospital outfit, somewhere in Great Britain, which is largely made up of New England personnel, is the coincidence that there are 5 sets of brothers working with this unit. Among which are Captain John F. McManus of 1552 Washington st., West Newton, His brother, Captain James J. McManus of West Roxbury is the unit chaplain. T. Sgt. Robert H. Flynn of 47 Newtonville ave., also with the unit, who has recently been promoted, finds life there not bad. He has made friends with many residents of the locality, and thinks the folks there are most cordial and easy to know.

NEWTON CITIZEN'S ADVISORY COMMITTEE

The Newton Citizen's Advisory Committee for Returning Veterans has set up temporary headquarters at 345 Walnut st., Newtonville. One of the first services which the committee is offering to returning veterans is a free photostatic copy of their discharge papers. John F. Wheelock, secretary of the committee in announcing this service calls the attention of veterans to their discharge papers which are invaluable and urges that they have a photostatic made without charge. Information and attention to any problem are available to returning veterans through this committee.

NEWTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

A gentleman wouldn't mention it, maybe, and it's more than likely that Father Time's influencing this department's opinions a little these days, but, be that as it may, it's a fact that the gals don't appear quite so beautiful, as they pass in review before the rheumy eyes of the Owls at this Corner station point. From dark to dawn, the night watch has the opportunity of observing them, as they travel by on the way to a bit of recreation in the early evening. They see them again on their return — some of them with a little, and once more, as they dash thru in the early morning, with one eye open, to a day of toil. It may be that some of the gals are working too hard. The fact that so many of them are wearing slacks, pants and overalls, too, may have something to do with it. Low heeled shoes and sandals that flap, as they walk, aren't much of a help in the glamorous league either. There's likely a combination of contributing factors responsible for the current local opinion and we're probably 'way off as to the actual reasons. For, after all, we really wouldn't be knowin'. It's entirely possible, with most of the young fellows away, the gals feel there's no one to dress for, anyway, and simply don't give a darn any more.

—ONE THING CERTAIN— One thing's certain, however, and that is the work in which many of the gals are now engaged does develop the muscles and broaden the torso in general. They're doing much walking in comfortable, roomy work shoes, driving trucks and carrying armfuls of miscellaneous articles to and fro, as well as taking a fling at just about anything and everything else that comes up on the home front. All of this, added to their other chores, is causing, among other things—mentioning this, ahem, may be verging on the sacrilegious—a considerable broadening of their dainty digits, also. Many a sweet young thing, who tripped around in size three slippers on last year, may still be wearing the occasion of her visit to camp, shoes of that size on special occasions now, but it's a pretty sure bet that she's not doing much tripping in them. The ominous protests of strained leather, plus the agonized barking of her tortured puppies, allow for little tripping.

One young lady, a vision in blue taxed home, Easter Sunday evening, and her first act on entering the taxi, was to yank o her lovely new blue shoes. Her sigh of relief, according to the driver, was reminiscent of the old steam whistle they blow for the third alarm up in Waltham. Another couple, discovered walking in the grass along the River, shoes in hand, dropped their eyes in modesty, coyly murmuring that they (Continued on page 4)

If a cellar or back porch is used for storage be sure that the potatoes are not placed in the light. It will cause them to turn greenish and taste bitter.

Urges Planting Of Various Trees

add Town Forest Committee . . .

Before the war there was a demand from Town Forest Committee and private landowners for trees. Your State Nurseries set out 2,000,000 trees. Due to manpower shortage, these trees have not been called for. If left in the nursery for another growing season, these five-year-old trees will be too large for practical reforestation and will have to be destroyed.

Time is an important element in timber production and this five-year growth represents about one-tenth of the time required to produce a good sawlog. Wood is the critical war material today and it will be equally important in maintaining our wood-using industries in the post-war world. To save the lives of these little trees and give them a chance to produce sawlogs is a patriotic duty of high order and a practical conservation measure. The public is being asked to assist in the planting of these trees.

Tree planting outings during the month of April and early May would be a worthy project for Public Safety Groups, Granges, Farmsteads, Boy and Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, 4-H Clubs and schools. The trees are free to Town Forest Committees and organizations of young people. To individuals the cost is $10 to $12 per thousand—not less than 500 can be ordered in one lot. They must be planted where they will grow to timber size—they cannot be used for ornamental planting in front yards.

Directions for planting:
As soon as the trees are received from the nursery, they should be put in a shallow ditch and the roots well covered with earth. The planting can then be done at will. When starting to plant, the roots should be placed in a bucket of water and never allowed to dry. The only tool needed is a grub hoe or mattock. Dig a small hole five or six inches deep, spread the roots out in the bottom of the hole, push the earth back on the roots, stamp it hard a couple of times with the heel of your shoe and the job is done. The tree warden of the town or some other experienced planter should be a member of each planting group. Address inquiries about trees to Mr. H. O. Cook, Director, State Division of Forestry, 15 Ashburton pl., Boston.

COLLECTION OF TIN IN MARCH UNDER AVERAGE

The collection of tin cans in March produced a total of only 8 1/2 tons, compared with 16 tons last month. Street Commissioner John D. Haughey announced today.

The decline was attributed to the blizzard. The collection is usually confined to one day, but because of the snowstorm, Commissioner Haughey ordered the period to be extended to cover the entire week-end. A ladder, entered the house through a second story window and unlocked the door from the inside.

SPORTS . . .

in a Nutshell

The Red Sox shut out Newark 4-0 Monday, April 10, with Yank Terry turning in a brilliant pitch performance for seven innings. He faced 23 batters allowing only two stray singles and passed only 1 batter. Two double plays helped make it a little easier. Mike Rybo pitched the last two innings and held the game safe. Ford Garrison punched out singles in the 5th and 7th to drive in Skeeter Newsome; both times Newcomb and Lupsien both got two-baggers.

The Phils defeated the Braves 3-1. Javery pitched five innings. Cardone pitched 2 innings and Holdshacker 1 inning.

The big series starts Saturday when the Braves and Red Sox go to it to see who will win the city series.

Both teams look fair considering the players who are not with them because of being in the service, but all other teams are in the same fix.

Spur Chandler and Enrie Bonham will start the season with the Yankees which brings joy to Joe McCarthy but may spell gloom for the other teams. Every day that these 2 players are with the Yanks will keep this team near the top. Both players have passed their physical examination and are waiting for their orders to report for service.

The St. Louis Cards defeated the St. Louis Browns 8-6 in the opener of their city spring series. Vernon Stephens hit a home run in the ninth and the Browns scored four times in this inning.

Brooklyn defeated the Red Sox 3-2 in twelve innings Sunday, Apr. 9 in a game which every one enjoyed. Hope the Sox can pull some of these one inning games out of the fire this year.

The Red Sox face the Yanks in the opener this year and play a double header the 19th of April.

Clayton Farrar, 22 year old coast guardsman, won the 10-mile Cathedral A Road race breaking the record for this 34th annual event. Farrar's time was 49 minutes and 11 seconds and he finished fast and fresh. This was his third straight victory this year as he finishes first in the North Medford 20-mile race and first in last week's 10-mile Reddish handicap race. Winning these three events proved him as one of the greatest runners of the day and will sure make some of the aspirants in our B A Patriot's day race keep their eyes on him.

Pan Handles Pans and kettles with loose handles or rounded or uneven bottoms should not be used for cooking because of the danger of spilling their contents and scalding someone. Make it a rule to turn handles of pans toward the back of the stove or table, for if the handle is left sticking out, the pan may be tipped over by someone brushing against it or may be reached by a child. This is a common home accident and is just as likely to happen in the hurry of serving a lunch at school, especially if space is limited.

Hand-Made Music Most marines like music, but in the South Pacific instruments are not the handiest things to carry around. However, Leathernecks enjoy their pick-up bands and their hand-made instruments which usually include musical saws, beer-can xylophones, cigar-box guitars and harmonicas.

Open Hallways Much heat is lost through open upstairs hallways. A hinged trap-door or a frame covered with muslin may be used to close the stair well. A drape along the open side of the stairway will reduce drafts, as will a temporary partition along the side of the stairs, with a door at the foot of the stairs.

Soap Silvers Soap silvers and scraps, too small for efficient handling, should be saved and used. Toilet soap scraps can be tucked into bags or squares of old terry-cloth toweling and used for baths or showers. Odds and ends of kitchen or laundry soap have a number of uses. They can be dried thoroughly and grated and used like packaged soaps.

S. Sgt. LeVert Is Awarded D.F.C.

Staff Sgt. Robert E. LeVert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. LeVert of 87 Freeman st, Auburndale, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, according to a dispatch from the Army Air Force Bomber Station in England.

During his first 15 missions as tail gunner on a Flying Fortress, Sgt. LeVert blasted two German fighters out of the sky. He also holds the Purple Heart, which he received after he had frozen both his hands during a mission to Bremen, and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

Sgt. LeVert attended Newton High School. He played semi-pro football for several seasons with the parish team of Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale. On Nov. 10, 1942, he enlisted in the Army and was sent to Atlantic City, N. J., for basic training. He attended the Aerial Gunner School at Ft. Meyer, Fla., where he won his gunner's wings and was promoted to sergeant, and after attending armorer's school at Denver, Colo., he received combat phase training at Pyote, Texas, and Dyersburg, Tenn. He flew overseas in Nov., 1943.

Save Soap In some instances the amount of soap used for routine dishwashing can be reduced simply by observing a few simple rules and putting them into practice. Scrape all dishes and wipe greasy plates and cooking utensils thoroughly with waste paper before washing so that they won't need so much soap. Soften the water before starting the job and use only as much soap as is needed to work efficiently.

Help Wanted By Navy Yard

Faced with the heaviest work load in its entire history—a work load which includes a large number of landing craft, the most important ships being built in 1944—the Boston Navy Yard has announced a program to recruit hundreds of new civilian workers in Newton.

Starting next Monday, April 17, at the U. S. Employment Service offices at 290 Centre st., Newton, naval officers and Civil Service interviewers representing the Navy Yard will be on hand to discuss openings at the Yard and accept applications for jobs.

A wide variety of jobs for both men and women, skilled or unskilled, are now open at the Yard, which must have additional employees, if it is to complete its 1944 schedule on time. In addition to landing craft, the Yard is building destroyers, destroyer escorts, and submarines and is carrying a major load ship repair and outfitting base.

Any man or woman not already employed on defense work is eligible to apply for work at the Yard.

For outstanding efficiency in all these endeavors, the Yard recently was awarded a fourth star for its "E" pennant—the equivalent of five consecutive "E" awards.

Landing craft hold the number one shipbuilding priority in the country today. Those on order at the Boston Navy Yard are ticketed for specific scheduled invasions even before their keels are laid.

Yard representatives are coming to Newton to save men and women interested in finding out about working at the Yard, the necessity of making a trip to Boston.

The naval officers and Civil Service interviewers will be on hand in order to tell potential applicants about openings at the Yard, wages and such Civil Service advantages as vacation with pay and sick leave with pay.

The Yard representatives will also arrange for transportation for all applicants on the spot.

In describing the types of jobs open at the Yard, a representative said, "There is a good job open at the Boston Navy Yard for any man or woman, skilled or unskilled, young or old, who is in reasonably good health and willing to work."

Soap Silvers Soap silvers and scraps, too small for efficient handling, should be saved and used. Toilet soap scraps can be tucked into bags or squares of old terry-cloth toweling and used for baths or showers. Odds and ends of kitchen or laundry soap have a number of uses. They can be dried thoroughly and grated and used like packaged soaps.

Save Soap In some instances the amount of soap used for routine dishwashing can be reduced simply by observing a few simple rules and putting them into practice. Scrape all dishes and wipe greasy plates and cooking utensils thoroughly with waste paper before washing so that they won't need so much soap. Soften the water before starting the job and use only as much soap as is needed to work efficiently.

Feed Transplants Mix an amount of plant food equal to a level tablespoonful thoroughly with the soil in the hill before planting. When transplanting, mix one tablespoonful of plant food with the soil in bottom of hole, add one inch of soil and proceed to set out plant. Fill with water immediately after planting to help settle the soil around the plant's roots as well as make the plant food available quickly for the plant's use.

391 Walnut St., Newtonville

Services—Sunday, 10:45—
Wednesday, 8:00 P.M.

"I am not alone, because the Father is with me. . . . In the world ye shall have tribulation; but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." This passage from the Bible, John 16:32, 33, comprises the Golden Text to be used in the Lesson-Sermon on Sunday, April 16, 1944, in the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts and in all of its branches.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Doctrine of Atonement," and included in the Scriptural selections is: "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath sent his only begotten Son into the world, for the redemption of Jesus Christ from the dead, to an inheritance in corruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you" (1 Peter 1:3, 4).

The following passage from the Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, "Is it not a species of infidelity to believe that so great a work as the Messiah's was done for himself or for God, who needed no help from Jesus' example to preserve the eternal harmony? But mortals did need this help, and Jesus pointed the way for them" (p. 494).

FRANCIS ROSWELL FROST

Word has been received that Francis Roswell Frost, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic A. Frost, formerly of Fuller st., West Newton, now of Boston, passed away on April 1 at Racine, Wisconsin. He will be remembered by schoolmates in Waban and Newtonville. He served six years on the first "Lexington" airplane carrier in the U. S. N. He leaves a wife and two small children.

Wilted Spinach
Wilted spinach is an old-fashioned favorite with many families. Follow the same method as for wilted lettuce or dandelion greens. Use vinegar that is not too strong in flavor, and add minced onion, parsley or chives for extra flavor, if you wish. Cover the pan and cook until the vegetable is wilted—but avoid overcooking.

Rich in Biblical Lore

Lebanon is rich in Biblical lore—includes the site of Baalbek, the city built by Cain, according to Arab legend; the shore on which the whale coughed up Jonah; Saida (Sidon), the city which Jesus visited on his most northerly journey, and Tyre, ancient maritime city. From the Phoenician city of Byblos, came the word "Bible," first meaning book of papyrus by association with the cargoes of papyrus shipped from the port.

Poor Breed

Despite their recognized importance in successful swine production, neither proper feeding nor adequate housing can overcome the harmful effects of low vigor in sows and boars upon the health of unborn pigs. Even special methods of feeding and management are of little benefit in producing a strong healthy litter of pigs if inherent reproductive weaknesses and diseases are harbored by the sow or the boar.

Life Insurance

Life insurance commonly is used to provide protection against two different contingencies. The first is the possibility of dying too soon and leaving a dependent family; the second is the possibility of living too long and becoming dependent on others.

Career Woman

By R. H. WILKINSON
Associated Newspapers.
WNU Features.

PORTIA had repeatedly told him he would be smart, and happier, to forget her and marry someone else. Ivan had at first laughed at her, then pleaded with her.

"I could never be happy with anyone but you. I love you. You know that."

"You may love me now. Later you'll stop. No man can be happy with a career woman. I want to paint pictures more than anything."

"You can't!" he cried. "I'll never stand in your way. You can have your career and me too."

She laughed, shaking her sleek, blonde head. "Forget me," she said. "I'm not the only girl in the world. You could be happy with someone else."

"I couldn't. I could never be happy with anyone else. I'll never forget you."

They continued to see each other. Portia thought it would be less cruel than not to permit him to call. Besides, at times when he wasn't making love to her, he was fun. He was fun and it also flattered her vanity. That was natural. Every girl, career or not, likes to be told she is beautiful, likes to know that she is loved. Ivan never let her down.

If she thought he would get used to her, cease loving her, she was wrong. He became more ardent. Frequently he went on business trips, remaining away two, three and sometimes seven and eight days. He always called her the moment he got back.

"I thought of you every minute I was gone. It was torture being away. Will you marry me?" "Oh, Ivan, you mustn't! You mustn't continue to think of me this way. You must meet someone else."

"Why do you keep saying that? There's no girl in this world as beautiful as you, as lovely as you, no one I could care about. You know that."

"It sounds wonderful! It sounds romantic and glamorous, but it isn't so. I'm practical enough to know that. There will be another girl. Sometime. I'm sure of it."

"There won't. Ever." It became a habit. She expected his ardent acceptance. Automatically she would make the same replies and he the same answers. Then they'd have fun. It was pleasant. Portia didn't mind. She enjoyed it. She could still devote the greater part of her time to painting, to her work, her career.

Another month passed. Then something happened. Portia woke up to the fact that she wasn't cut up to be an artist. It had been a growing feeling in the back of her head for months. The reality came as something of a shock. The thought that all her effort, all her future planning was for nothing rather dismayed her.

Yet she faced it bravely. Better to admit defeat now than to go on and on, groping, sliding back, experiencing defeat. Better to forestall all that now by being sensible.

She thought of Ivan. With a little shock she thought of him. She remembered all the times they had had together, all the things he had said, his vows, his ardor. And suddenly it flashed across her mind that it had been this career that had stood between them, that had caused her to overlook the true significance of Ivan's regard to her.

Now that the barrier had been lifted she saw vividly what lay beyond. She loved him. She had loved him all the time. The barrier—her career—had been false.

Her heart quickened its beat as she looked into the future—a bright, sparkling future with Ivan, having fun, being told she was beautiful and perfect.

She became eager. Tomorrow he was returning from Chicago. He would call her. She would meet him as usual. He would present his old argument, expecting her customary reply. Then she would tell him the truth, withholding nothing, admitting the falseness of the barrier that had stood between them.

She smiled, thinking of the expression that would come into his eyes. The telephone rang at five minutes after five.

"Meet me at Tony's for dinner. I can hardly wait."

"Of course. I'm glad you're back. It will be fun seeing you again."

She was proud that she had been able to keep her voice the same.

She arrived early, sat down in the lobby, lighted a cigarette, picked up a magazine. She mustn't let him know at once. He mustn't read it in her eyes. She must wait until he became ardent, when they were seated at their cozy, customary table.

She heard his voice before she saw him. She looked up from the magazine's fashion page.

He was standing directly in front of her. He was grinning. Beside him was a dark-eyed girl.

"You were right. I felt you were right all the time, but couldn't bring myself to admit it." He turned to the girl. "Here she is. The other girl. The one I can be happy with. We've been married a week. I've told her all about you. She's dying to meet my career woman."

Portia rose. She was very proud of herself. She extended her hand. "Congratulations. Best wishes. I'm glad—so glad."

But her heart was breaking.

Swine Mortality

There seems to be general agreement that about 30 per cent of swine mortality occurs before weaning time, emphasizing the importance of careful attention to prevention of disease in young pigs.

ELIOT MEN'S CLUB

The annual meeting of the Men's Club of the Eliot Congregational Church was held on Monday evening, attended by about sixty members.

A buffet supper was served at 6:30 followed by the election of officers. The following officers were elected: George Pascoe, president; Norman Mallard, vice president; Herbert Dunn, secretary; and William Larkin, treasurer. Elected to the executive committee were Theodore Lockwood, Dr. Everett L. Pierce and Dr. Edwin P. Leonard, Jr.

While the votes were being counted Dr. Leonard called on the members to tell stories and several novel and extraordinary stories were told, mostly of a military character.

Following the business meeting, Walter H. Kidder, Professor of music and well known soloist of Eliot Church, sang several songs accompanied at the piano by Louis V. Haffermehl, teacher of Music at Lassel Jr. College. Mr. Kidder spoke of the choir and the music of Eliot Church for which the church has always been noted, and stated that a number of singers are needed. The choir meets for practice on Wednesday night of each week and anyone interested in joining it will be welcomed.

Mayor Paul M. Goddard, guest speaker, began his talk by saying that the stories told had been so good, he didn't think they needed any after-dinner speakers. He told of having been a Sunday school teacher, a deacon and member of the Men's Class and also of preaching several sermons (on request). He said that the young people must be trained for Christian service as well as for military service. He also spoke of the outstanding war work which has been done in Newton including the Red Cross drive, metal and paper drives, and the care of many dependent children and aged people. Finances in Newton, he said, are in excellent condition and in four years the indebtedness has been reduced.

He also spoke of the 8000 boys from Newton who have entered the armed services and of the send-offs given them, with the sincere prayers of the community. Mention was also made of the city employees, who, the Mayor said, are hard workers and he received great co-operation from all of them.

The following new members have been added to the club's membership: Carl B. Bolin, John W. Blakeney, Jr., Andrew L. Flynn of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mayor Paul M. Goddard, George E. Gregory, Louis V. Haffermehl, Walter H. Kidder, Fritz Lindquist and Rev. Clarence A. Wood, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church.

An appropriation of $2500 for a new roof on the central valve chamber of the Waban Hill Reservoir was also voted at the request of the Mayor, but action on his request for an appropriation or more than $50,000 for drain and sewer projects in Elinor, Woodcliffe, Roosevelt and Theodore roads was deferred.

A petition of K. Florence Dussault for a permit to conduct a day nursery school on the second floor of the frame 2-story dwelling at 450 Albemarle rd., Newtonville, was granted by the Board, for the duration of the war, the apartment to be only for her own occupancy.

A hearing was held on the proposed improvement of Pond st., to which there was no opposition.

SHIRLEY APPOINTED AS 1945 GENERAL CHAIRMAN OF WAR FUND DRIVE HERE

Thomas E. Shirley, manager of the Communications Department of the First Boston Corporation and vice-president of the Newton Community Chest, has been appointed General Chairman of the 1945 United War Fund Campaign.

THOMAS E. SHIRLEY

in Newton, according to a statement released today by Clark E. Woodward, president of the Newton Community Chest.

Mr. Shirley was assistant general chairman of the 1944 campaign, residential chairman of the 1942 and 1943 campaigns, and for the three years prior to that was captain, Major, and Village chairman in Waban. Under Mr. Shirley's leadership the Residential Division in 1942 increased its total subscriptions to $118,000 from $67,000 the previous year, thus helping materially to reach a total of $299,500 that year.

Mr. Shirley has lived in Newton for more than 25 years and has been a resident of Waban since 1935. He recently retired as president of the Waban Improvement Society and served in this capacity for two years. He is vice-president of the Waban Neighborhood Club, member of the Standing Committee of the Union Church in Waban, member of the Brae Burn Country Club, and director of the Newton YMCA. He brings to his new position a wide acquaintanceship in Newton and Boston, a knowledge of the Member Agencies of the Newton Community Chest, and a long experience in fund raising.

"Newton will again be associated with the Greater Boston United War Fund," states Mr. Shirley.

"in raising the needed funds to provide assistance in the coming year for the year-round operation of the Newton health, family, and character-building agencies and to supplement these by contributing to the Greater Boston all-time social agencies. It will also share in supporting the National War Fund, which includes the USO, United Nations Relief and War Prisoners' Aid."

"Though the campaign will not be held until November, we have already started to build up our organization. From Division Chairmen to community workers we expect to have a volunteer group of 2500 Newton citizens. The goal for Greater Boston and for Newton will not be determined until early fall when the actual financial needs will be better known. With the same fine support given me that was given to my immediate predecessors, Charlie Floyd and Neil Leonard, I am confident that Newton will reach whatever goal it sets."

"I expect to be able to announce soon the names of the Division chairmen and key leaders who will assist me in the coming campaign. I bespeak for them your generous and cordial cooperation."

POLICE CHIEF HUGHES WARNS ON CASHING CHECKS

To All Merchants:
It has come to my attention that merchants have cashed a number of commercial and government checks for persons other than lawful owners of such checks. Many of these merchants have lost considerable sums of money by accepting checks with forged endorsements.

In order that this type of crime may be prevented effectively, I urge you not to cash checks for strangers unless you are certain of their identity and their right to such checks.

Before cashing any check, ask yourself this question, "If this check is returned because of a forged endorsement, can I locate the forger and recover my loss?" This warning is brought to you as a public service by your police department, and in co-operation with the "Know Your Endorser" campaign of the United States Secret Service, Treasury Department.

Signed:
MICHAEL T. HUGHES,

Rotary Club

At the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday James Sherman introduced the guest speaker, Edward Gallagher, who has been with the Boston Better Business Bureau for nineteen years. He took "The Importance of Fair Practice in Business" as his subject. The Boston Better Business Bureau is a non-profit Massachusetts Corporation, supported by contributions and membership. There are about 650 business concerns in its membership. It promotes truth in advertising, fair and ethical business practices, and exposes and prosecutes all business and financial frauds. It has built up standards for advertising and selling in the 85 bureaus throughout the country. Mr. Gallagher mentioned the many fraudulent concerns of the '20's and the many abuses of business which caused the formation of federal regulatory bodies such as the Securities Exchange Commission. He told of many specific incidents of fraudulent advertising and the consequent government regulations, both state and federal. The rules proposed by the Federal Trade Commission and the Better Business Bureau's more truthful advertising, were sent to various industries, which voluntarily accepted them, thereby obviating the necessity for government regulation.

His final point was the continuation of free enterprise. This can be done only by voluntary measures by free enterprise for the elimination and control of abuses such as false advertising of products or services.

The visiting Rotarians included Charles Jordan of Weymouth, Chester Eaton and John Turry Kenney of Needham, James O'Connell, Fred Walsh and Fred Heaney of Watertown, and Bill McCormick of Boston. Captain Peterson was a guest of Roy Edwards.

Members having birthdays in April were invited to sit at the head table. They included, Dr. Frank Clark, Clarence Mease, and James Sherman.

NEWTON CHURCH BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The annual banquet of the Newton Church Basketball League was held in the auditorium of the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Friday evening at 6:30.

Guests included Rev. Charles T. Allen of the Newton Methodist Church, Rev. Virgil Foster of the Second Congregational, Rev. Louis Ford of the Myrtle Baptist Church, Clarence R. Mease, general "Y" secretary; H. W. Bascom, retired secretary; Richard B. Simmons, physical director; and Mrs. Simmons, C. Wade Abbott, assistant physical director; and Mrs. Abbott, Arthur M. Jacobs, chairman of the physical department, and Alden Reed and Wendell Thornton, league referees. Grenfell A. Swin, president of the league, was master of ceremonies. He was assisted in making arrangements for the program by Mr. Simons and Irving J. Carlson.

Gold basketball were awarded to members of the champion Second Congregational team, and medallions were awarded to the most valuable player on each of the seven teams.

Members of the championship Second Congregational team, which was coached by William K. Patton, were as follows: Captain Paul Gibson, leading league scorer, who was also selected as the "most valuable" player on the team; Al Evans, Herb Frary, Jack Learmont, Neil Rock, Trevor Davies, Tom Fubush, Jack Williams, Harry Moore.

Selected "most valuable" on each team were the following: Paul Buswell, Newton Methodist; Paul Gibson, Second Congregational; Randolph Powell, Central Congregational; Gadsden Meredith, Myrtle Baptist; William Jackson, Eliot Congregational; Robert Evans, St. John's Methodist; and Arvin Teschner, Newtonville Methodist.

Following the banquet there was an entertainment consisting of a violin and piano duet by Paul and Lottif Gayzakian; of Eliot Church, piano solos by Robert Pillsbury of Central Church, and piano selections by Adrian Roth of the Newton Methodist Church. Several short sport films were shown.

Newtonville

Stuart R. White of the Bell Laboratories of New Jersey spent Easter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford White of Harvard Cir., Newtonville.

Waban

Miss Barbara Dustin, a student at Vassar College, is spending her vacation at her home on Wamesit rd.

Open Hallways

Much heat is lost through open upstairs hallways. A hinged trapdoor or a frame covered with muslin may be used to close the stair well. A drape along the open side of the stairway will reduce drafts, as will a temporary partition along the side of the stairs, with a door at the foot of the stairs.

Potato Storage

If a cellar or back porch is used for storage be sure that the potatoes are not placed in the light, as it will cause them to turn greenish and taste bitter.

Kiwanis Activities

Mr. Daniel J. Gallagher, former United States attorney for the district of Massachusetts and at present a practicing attorney, was the speaker at this week's Kiwanis Club meeting. He was introduced by his brother, Jim Gallagher, a member of the local club. His topic was anti-Semitism and at the outset he defined anti-Semitism as "a state of mind which condemns and incites hatred against the Jew because he is a Jew."

He referred in passing to the anti-Semitic outbreaks in Greater Boston which he said were brought about by gangs of young hoodlums and do not represent the feeling of the general public. He said that in his opinion anti-Semitism is not present to any great extent in Greater Boston. Referring to the trials of those involved in the Cocoanut Grove disaster, he said that this situation presented an excellent opportunity for anti-Semitism to show itself if it were present.

The "anti" spirit he said, shows itself principally when there is a fear that any particular group may be becoming powerful and influential. He criticized those who attribute good and bad qualities to any particular race and said that virtue depends upon the individual. Anti-Semitism, he said, many times results from envy. He claims that people in general normally are not anti anything and he cited the golden rule as the best formula for combating intolerance.

People should always keep their sense of balance and perspective when controversial issues are raised in order not to be carried along by the rising tide of emotions.

The "anti-spirit" is always destructive, never constructive and never results in any good. In closing, Mr. Gallagher spoke about the conditions governing permanent world peace. Peace, he said, is a means to an end and not an end in itself.

Peace is necessary in order that men may have an opportunity to develop themselves to the highest degree. Very close attention was given to Mr. Gallagher's talk and it was thoroughly appreciated by the club.

Walter Hood read a letter from Past President George, and spoke about the Anniversary Party scheduled for May 2nd. Jim Gallagher announced that the speaker next week will be Mr. Theodore Lockwood, chairman of the Financial Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen.

Wilted Spinach

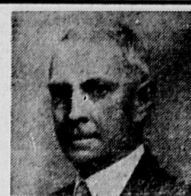

Wilted spinach is an old-fashioned favorite with many families. Follow the same method as for wilted lettuce or dandelion greens. Use vinegar that is not too strong in flavor, and add minced onion, parsley or chives for extra flavor, if you wish. Cover the pan and cook until the vegetable is wilted—but avoid overcooking.

Conscientious Objectors

Among the pacifists who have been sent to prison for failure to comply with Selective Service regulations are a number of vegetarians, anti-vaccinationists, and followers of other cults.

SOUND farm management suggests that funds should be reserved now to provide for depreciation, for insurance against risks, and that machinery wears out or becomes obsolete. In our present crisis, many of the outlays needed to maintain the farm plant must be deferred. The lumber, minerals and chemical products and our skilled and unskilled labor must be used to produce foods and fibers, build ships, make airplanes, and provide the other goods and services essential to the prosecution of the war.

As our farm machinery gets older, as buildings go without painting, and with minimum attention to other repairs, these needs grow. When the war is over, our industries again will make civilian goods. Saving money and building a reserve through the purchase of War Bonds now, will enable a farmer to buy the equipment and the other goods and services which then will be available.

Savings Are Beneficial

The savings from current income should include funds to replace household equipment and furnishings, to buy new equipment, and to install a water system, a central heating plant, electricity, or some other service which will add to the convenience and comfort of family living.

A backlog in War Bonds will help to carry the farm business through a year in which expenses exceed the returns. Farming is subject to many hazards. A few of the risks are price changes, unfavorable weather, the outbreak of disease, the attack of a destructive insect, and the sudden illness of the operator. Growers of cash crops know that prices vary from year to year. Savings set aside during years when prices are relatively high, will help to carry the business through a year when returns are small. A potato grower who put part of his receipts from the 1942 and 1943 crops into War Bonds will find such a reserve is extremely helpful in a year of low prices. A few hundred dollars in War Bonds are very useful when the farm family faces an emergency as a result of a serious illness or accident.

In planning for the future of the family or the business, each farm operator will find reserves for a specific purpose are desirable. With one it will be a provision for the education of children; another funds for retirement may be important. With a young man especially, such reserves will furnish the first payment for the purchase of a farm. A farmer who owns the land he operates will find such a fund useful if and when an opportunity to purchase additional land develops.

Saving Time Varies

The time of the year when money to buy War Bonds is available varies with the type of farming. On dairy farms income usually is received monthly or semi-monthly. The expenses of the poultry farmer are heavy during the months that chickens are being raised. Producers of cash crops have large outlays during the planting and growing season.

But depreciation is continuous. Therefore, irrespective of the type of farming, definite provision should be made to reserve in War Bonds part of the receipts from sales of crops, livestock, or livestock products.

United States War Bonds may be bought in various amounts and are redeemable. For every $3.00 invested, $4.00 will be returned at the end of 10 years. They are safe. The interest rate compares favorably with that from savings deposits. Investing in War Bonds helps to finance the war. Following the war, such savings will provide the farm operator with the cash to buy improvements for his farm and home, to educate his children; and to do the other things which he or his family wish to undertake, at a time when loans may be difficult to obtain.

Mulch Strawberries

After the ground is frozen is the time to apply mulch to the strawberry patch. The mulch prevents alternate freezing and thawing of the surface soil which heaves some plants out of the ground and seriously injures roots of others.

NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

Directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association learned, at their monthly meeting at the Nurses Home, Tuesday morning, that the plans for their sixth annual Dessert Bridge and Fashion Show—to be held May 9—are complete. This was announced by the president, Mrs. Theron B. Walker, in the absence of Mrs. Worthen L. West of Newton Centre, who is chairman of the affair. Also from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Frank R. Clark, Newtonville, came the report that the eleven chairmen of Newton villages, and Wellesley, have been successfully engaged in selling a few tables unsold to date. Mrs. West will be assisted by Mrs. Winthrop Dow, of Wellesley, and the following committee chairmen: Mrs. Clark, tickets; Mrs. Earl P. Stevenson, Newton, Fashion Show; Mrs. Gordon B. Wilkes, Newton Centre, tables and chairs; Mrs. Ralph D. Thompson, Newton Highlands, scores and cards; Mrs. Harold R. Keller, West Newton, food; Mrs. Hubert L. Carter, West Newton, prizes; Mrs. Benjamin W. Pepper, Auburndale, waitresses; Mrs. Dow, Newtonville, refreshments; Mrs. Robert P. Bolster, Newton Lower Falls, peanuts and punch.

The village chairmen assisting Mrs. Clark with tickets are: Mrs. Charles G. Pike, Wellesley; Mrs. Melville M. Ames, Newton Lower Falls; Miss Madeline Cobb, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. Clarence C. Colby, Newtonville; Mrs. Frederick Ernst, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Edwin F. Gibbs, Newton Highlands; Mrs. C. Faulkner Kendall, Newton Centre; Mrs. Harold R. Keller, West Newton; Mrs. Oliver Ames Lottrop, Waban; Mrs. Horace W. Orr, Newtonville; and Mrs. Arthur L. Shaw, Auburndale.

Reports of officers were called for by Mrs. Walker and that of the treasurer, Miss Maida Flanders, told of a recent generous bequest from a former member, Mrs. Edward W. Pridmore, of the purchasing committee, the gift of three metal and three wooden wheel chairs for the hospital.

Mrs. Walker announced that the fifth floor waiting room for the obstetrical department, which the association had voted to finance, will be completed May 1st (except for the furnishings). Mrs. Francis Williams, chairman, Benefit Shop, made a request for kidie cars, roller skates, shelves and old buttons. She asked that members keep the treasure sale, held annually in November, in mind and reported that the shop had recently received several bushels of felt hats and now needs spring and straw hats, also wash dresses and aprons. Mrs. Walter McGill, chairman, Coffee and Gift Shop said that over 8100 customers were served during March. Mrs. Charles B. Flood, former president, suggested that a reserve list of volunteer workers be built up for the shop since many of the regular volunteers will be away for part of the summer. There are three shifts each day from Monday thru Friday, from 9 to 1, 1 to 5, and 5 to 9. Four shifts are necessary on Saturday—fifteen workers are needed for each of five days and twenty on Saturday.

Hostesses for morning coffee were Mrs. William B. Baker and Mrs. Edward W. Pridmore.

West Newtonites Display Great Garden Interest

Great interest in planting Victory gardens was shown in West Newton Wednesday night when an enthusiastic group of gardeners gathered to hear Mr. Alden P. Tuttle of the Massachusetts State College at Amherst discuss Home Vegetable Gardening with emphasis on the food program as a whole.

The audience asked many pertinent questions based on last year's failures and successes and received invaluable information to help grow bigger and better gardens.

Mrs. Henry B. Shepard, chairman of the Women's Activities of the West Newton Community Center, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the first speaker, Mrs. D. Allen Smith, chairman of the Victory Garden program in the city of Newton. Mrs. Smith gave a short talk about local plans for this season's gardens and discussed the series of canning demonstrations which she will give later throughout the city.

The Weneccome Club, the Moulton Club and the Craft Class of the West Newton Community Center sponsored this meeting. Mrs. Richard Paine was head usher at the lecture and she was assisted by: Mrs. Philip Reilly, Mrs. Earl King, Mrs. Raymond Arnold, Mrs. Alfred Haywood, Miss Bessie Hopkins, Mrs. Elizabeth Qualls, Mrs. Warren Dutton, Mrs. Nicholas Till, Mrs. Einar Johnson and Mrs. Robert Cobb.

WOMEN'S CHARITY CLUB

Newton members of the Women's Charity Club interested in the success of the Helen Lanier benefit concert at Jordan Hall on Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 3:00 p. m., are Mrs. Charles C. Balcom, Mrs. John Bianchi, Mrs. A. Coplen, Mrs. Morris Courtiss, Mrs. Wm. M. Dickinson, Miss Sabra Erickson, Mrs. Harry P. Holt, Mrs. William J. Keane, Mrs. Albert M. Lyon, Mrs. Earl G. This concert is being held for the benefit of the Massachusetts Women's Hospital, Parker Hill, Roxbury, which is the only hospital in the United States, as far as it is known, to be wholly maintained by a Federated Women's Club. Last year there were 1881 patients admitted with the cost of free work amounting to about $15,000. These community demands have resulted in an acute need for funds in order to carry on this philanthropic service. Helen Lanier has kindly volunteered to donate her services so that the entire proceeds of this concert may be turned over to the Women's Charity Club for the benefit of the Massachusetts Women's Hospital.

Mrs. Howard T. Spaulding, president of the Women's Charity Club, is chairman of the ticket committee. The tickets may be obtained by writing Mrs. Isaac T. Ripley, treasurer of the Women's Charity Club, 61 Garden st., East Milton, Mass. Mrs. William D. Morton, Jr., of Wellesley is Concert Chairman.

Many "Held" Orders By Telephone Co.

To a householder who wants a telephone and can't get it because of wartime demands and shortages, there may be some satisfaction—perhaps not a great deal—in the knowledge that his is one of about a million "held orders" in the files of Bell Telephone Companies throughout the United States, according to Manager E. J. Campbell of the local office of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company.

"Most people realize, I think, what the difficulty is," Mr. Campbell says. "The manufacture of telephone instruments was stopped about two years ago so that the plants of the Western Electric Company could turn out vast quantities of field telephones, walkie-talkies, aircraft and battle communications systems, and Signal Corps equipment. That meant practically no expansion of the civilian telephone system, and the margins that existed when the country entered the war were taken up by the Army and Navy needs and the great increase in communication demands by war industries. About 2,500,000 phones have been added to Bell System lines and offices since the Pearl Harbor attack, and with manufacture stopped, we're scraping the bottom of the barrel on telephone instruments, central office equipment and cable."

"New England is in about the same situation as the rest of the country, perhaps worse in some spots because of the concentration of war production in this area. My company now has more than 60,000 held orders in its files. Priority must be given to telephones essential to the conduct of the war, and that leaves little for the expanding civilian demand," Mr. Campbell continued.

"In Newton we have our share of these held orders, about 279 of them, and many have been in the files for 4 months."

"It's difficult to predict when we can hope for much improvement," Manager Campbell went on. "Before manufacture of telephone instruments and other equipment for civilian use can start up again, not only will much more Signal Corps material have to be supplied, but the conduct of the war of contracts, the Western Electric Company will have the job of clearing its plants of war work then in process, and of carrying out a complex reconversion job."

"In the meantime our only hope of reducing the large number of held orders is through termination of service by present users, and those are not enough to meet the rising demand. But we are sparing no effort to serve as many people as we can with the present equipment, and most people are extremely tolerant about the whole situation because they know that war needs must be met."

"The annual meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club will be held at the clubhouse Tuesday, April 25th, at 2:30 p. m. The annual luncheon will be served at 1:30 p. m."

The program will be "Peter and the Wolf," a musical fantasy which will be performed by Newton High School students and will include a dance group, vocal soloists, and a string orchestra under the direction of Miss Jane Forte, Mrs. Barry, and Mr. Remly. The art department of the High School designed the costumes.

Polls will be open for the election of club officers from 12:30 to 1:00 p. m. and 2:00 to 2:20 p. m.

Visiting Vivian

By STANLEY CORDELL
Associated Newspapers.
WNU Features.

THERE was no rejoicing in the Barber family when the letter came from Aunt Vivian Randall, announcing that she was arriving that evening for a short visit.

"Short, my foot!" Asa Barber stormed. "That woman doesn't know the meaning of the word. She'll stay a month and make a confused mess of us. I'll have to have her taken care of."

"I can't write," Ethel told him. "She's already on her way." Mrs. Barber's face wore a distracted look. Tomorrow Aaron Colt of the Wearbetter Tire Co., was arriving to talk about the possibility of establishing an agency in New England.

"Jack Turner's got the measles," Bruce Barber, fourteen-year-old, announced brightly. "and nobody can come to see them."

Asa banged the table. "Measles! That's it! One of us will contract the measles! Fun-loving Vivian will throw a fit, won't even stop to unpack her bags. To make doubly sure, we'll get that half-witted young friend of Helen over here to give a concert on his saxophone."

The idea might have worked except that Aaron Colt arrived a day earlier than he expected and fifteen minutes before Aunt Vivian. Bruce, thinking the ringing doorbell was an announcement of Aunt Viv's advent, appeared with a face so thickly speckled with paint daubs that the whiteness of his skin was barely visible. Aaron Colt stared at him and blinked.

Vivian's remarks would make Aaron go into gales of laughter.

"Good lord, boy, what's that on your face?"

"Measles," said Bruce innocently and proudly.

"Measles! Wow! And I've never had 'em! At my age, they'll kill me!" He started for the door, just as Asa appeared.

"Mr. Colt! How are you? You're earlier than we expected. Come in! Come in and be comfortable."

"Barber," said Aaron Colt sternly, "what's the idea of inviting me to your home when your boy has the measles?"

Just then Asa caught sight of Bruce and almost swooned. "Good gosh!" he ejaculated, then tried to pass it off as a joke, and instructed the bewildered Bruce to wash his face. Aaron Colt was skeptical, but agreed to remain.

Things were progressing smoothly when Vivian blew in. "Blew" is the correct word. Vivian always appeared places as though a gust of wind had propelled her there. Now she took one look at Aaron Colt and he at her, and they flew into each other's arms. It developed, much to the chagrin of the Barber family, that the two were old friends and that Aaron thought Vivian was a hawk.

Directly after dinner Asa managed to get Mr. Colt into his study and practically convinced him that the tire agency could be placed in no better hands. In fact, Aaron was about to sign on the dotted line when from outside the window came a blaring and shrieking that would put a squeaking hen to shame. Mr. Colt flew into a rage. There was, it developed, nothing that annoyed him more than saxophone playing. He was on the point of leaving when Vivian appeared carrying a saxophone.

"You know," she said brightly, "I've been taking lessons for ten years and I can't play the saxophone yet."

"Why not?" asked Aaron.

"I took piano lessons," said Vivian and Aaron practically collapsed with laughter.

Vivian finally announced that she and Aaron were leaving and were going to be married. The Barber family was too stunned to speak.

"Aaron," Vivian explained, "proposed to me ten years ago and has been proposing on and off ever since. I refused him because I was getting a lot of fun out of life. I thought my friends and relatives"—he looked at the Barbers significantly—"liked to have me around because I brought a little cheer into their lives. I see now that I was wrong. Now I know that Aaron is the only person in the world who appreciates my jokes. So I'm going to marry him. We're leaving at once. You have your agreement. Asa, and the rest of you have had your fun with measles and so forth, so I'm sure you won't mind."

Taken To Hospital After Bicycle Fall

Charles Fox, 13, of 127 Evans st., Watertown, was taken to the Newton Hospital in an unconscious condition following injuries received when his bicycle was in collision with a bus at Washington and Church sts. on Wednesday of last week. The boy remained in a coma for a day and a half and was said to be in a critical condition, due to injuries about his head.

Thomas J. O'Hara, operator of the bus, of 282 River st., Waltham, in his report to the police traffic bureau, stated that he was proceeding east on Washington st. shortly before 6 p. m. when the bicycle came out of Church st. He applied his brakes, he stated, but it was too late to avoid a collision.

Pan Handles

Pans and kettles with loose handles or rounded or uneven bottoms should not be used for cooking because of the danger of spilling their contents and scalding someone. Make it a rule to turn handles of pans toward the back of the stove or table, for if the handle is left sticking out, the pan may be tipped over by someone brushing against it or may be reached by a child. This is a common home accident and is just as likely to happen in the hurry of serving a lunch at school, especially if space is limited.

Hand-Made Music

Most marines like music, but in the South Pacific instruments are not the handiest things to carry around. However, Leathernecks enjoy their pick-up bands and their hand-made instruments which usually include musical saws, beer-can xylophones, cigar-box guitars and harmonicas.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION TO ADDRESS PRIVATE BUSINESS SCHOOLS LEADERS

Dr. Julius E. Warren, of Newton, Commissioner of Education, will address the members of the Massachusetts Association of Business and Secretarial Schools on "The Problems of the Private Business Schools," at the association's fifth annual spring meeting on Saturday, May 6, at the Hotel Statler in Boston.

The association was organized five years ago by a group of leading private business school owners from various sections of the State in conjunction with the Boston Better Business Bureau for the purpose of adopting a set of standards which were intended to abolish tuition grants offered under the guise of scholarships and to eliminate unfair forms of soliciting prospective students through the use of job guarantees and prejudicial statements about competitors. Education cannot be peddled. A school can justify its existence only through the quality of instruction it offers and the respect which it commands in the fields of business and education.

The officers, Mr. L. B. White, President; Mr. J. Earle Bradley, Vice President; Mrs. E. C. Mortimer, Secretary, and Mr. W. J. Cyr, Treasurer, strongly feel that the private business schools can render unlimited services to industry through pertinent training programs which will qualify young women and men to offer their services as specialists.

The morning session of the all-day meeting, which will be under the leadership of Mr. White, will be devoted to a discussion of the proposed changes in the constitution and current educational problems, particularly those relating to veterans.

Lt. Melvin S. Hershon of 41 Brackett rd. has been graduated as an Army Navigator at Selman Field, Monroe, La. He attended Newton High School and Rockwood Day School and was a student at Norwich University when he was transferred to the Army Air Forces. He received the Good Conduct Medal about a month ago.

Paper Salvage Drive Now On

A Paper Salvage campaign was started in Newton on Tuesday of this week, when flyers were distributed to all homes with instructions on when and how to put ALL paper (including magazines, corrugated board, scrap paper, etc., out for collection).

Collections will be made on every regular rubbish collection day, but papers are to be put in containers entirely separate from other waste material, and should be tied if possible. Even the smallest pieces of paper will be of great help, as paper is critically needed for the war effort NOW, and it is hoped that residents of the city will realize the importance of this campaign and cooperate willingly.

The collection of tin cans will take place on the third Tuesday of each month. Residents are asked to prepare the cans and place them in containers on the curb on the following "Tin Can Tuesdays":

May 16
June 18
July 18
August 22
September 19
October 17
November 21
December 19

The dates of collection of tin cans are printed on the lower part of the flyer sent out this week, which, if posted up in a conspicuous place in the home, will serve as a reminder to SAVE YOUR PAPER AND SAVE YOUR TIN CANS AND HELP THE WAR EFFORT.

She was the daughter of Asa and Emily Langley Wheeler and was born Sept. 17, 1860, in the house in which she had made her home throughout her life, at 120 Webster st., West Newton. She graduated from the Framingham Normal School and taught school for some years in Northboro and then came to the Pierce School in West Newton, her teaching career covering a period of some 40 years. She was a life-long member of the First Unitarian Society in Newton and a member of the Women's Alliance. She leaves a nephew, John E. B. Wheeler of Santa Barbara, Calif., and two cousins, Mrs. Charles A. Baker of Abundance, and Mrs. Arthur Seales of Milford, N. H. The funeral will be held Friday at 3 o'clock p. m. in the new chapel at the Newton Cemetery.

Dr. Tracy Strong To Be Speaker

Dr. Tracy Strong, General Secretary of the World's Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, Switzerland, and head of the Y. M. C. A. War Prisoners Activities, will be the speaker at the annual dinner of the Newton Y. M. C. A. on Monday, May 1st, at 6:30 o'clock. Dr. Strong spent last summer in Europe conferring with Y. M. C. A. representatives who have been working in prison camps. His topic will be "Inside Europe."

DR. TRACY STRONG

As this is the Centennial year of the founding of the Y. M. C. A., the "Y" at its dinner will give special recognition to the founders of the Newton Y. M. C. A. and those men living who have had a part in developing the "Y" in Newton. President Frederick Sayford Bacon will preside. Prior to the talk by Dr. Strong there will be a short business session at which time directors will be elected for the coming year. The annual report of the Association will be printed and will be available. Because of the importance of the message that evening, special invitations have been issued to a number of Newton's leading citizens including officials and workers for the Newton Community Chest. About two hundred people are expected at the dinner.

Dr. Strong has had first hand experience in many countries of the world and has helped to organize activities in India, Finland and Scandinavia. He was elected General Secretary of the World's Committee of the Y. M. C. A. in 1937 and with the outbreak of hostilities in 1939 headed the work with prisoners of war. His message will deal with first hand information gleaned from personal experience of he and his associates in the war area on both sides of the conflict.

The passing of William Cardinal O'Connell is deeply felt by members of his faith in this city and by those of other faiths who admired him for his sterling qualities.

Newton may well feel proud of the many beautiful sites selected by Cardinal O'Connell in this city for schools, churches, and other diocesan institutions, chief among which are the beautiful buildings and grounds of Boston College situated at Chestnut Hill. Among others are the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, the Walnut Park Country Day School, the St. Sebastian's Country Day School, and St. Raphael's Hall, Centre st., Newton, which Cardinal O'Connell purchased recently as a home for the aged blind.

These and other Catholic churches and parochial schools throughout the city, erected under his jurisdiction, will remain as memorials to Cardinal O'Connell in the hearts of Newton citizens for generations to come.

Elected President of Savings Bank

JOSEPH E. PERRY

Without fanfare or ado an important change of pilots took place in the offices of the one-hundred-thirteen-year-old Newton Savings Bank on the morning of Monday, April 17th, 1944.

After more than forty years as Corporation and Trustee, thirty-four years as member of the Board of Investment and seven years as President, Henry E. Bothfield, who recently passed the eighty-fifth anniversary of his birthday, was glad to relinquish the Presidency of this twenty-two-million-dollar bank to Joseph E. Perry, who had recently resigned as Commissioner of Banks for Massachusetts in order to accept this new position. In response to the wise and courteous suggestion of Mr. Perry, the Trustees requested Mr. Bothfield to continue to serve as a member of the Board of Investment.

The bank was in excellent condition in all respects so there was no need for haste in finding a new leader. A committee of seven Trustees and Corporators, under the able and tactful chairmanship of Marvin B. Perry (not a relative) gave long and careful consideration to the problem of securing for this important position a man as well qualified as possible in character, temperament, education, experience and trained judgment. Mr. Joseph E. Perry was the first and also the final choice of the committee and enthusiastically unanimous. Then the election by the Trustees was enthusiastically unanimous. There are solid grounds for the belief that this is a case of the right man in the right place.

Establishing his home in Belmont, Mr. Perry entered actively into the church, social and business life of the town. For 22 years he has been chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Belmont Methodist Church. Having previously been president of the Belmont Rotary Club, he is now a member of the Boston Rotary Club. He was a Director, Vice-President and Counsel of the Waverley Cooperative Bank and a member of the Board of Incorporators of the Belmont Savings Bank. He also served from 1919 to 1922 on the Belmont School Committee.

Kiwanis Activities

An unexpected guest was introduced to the Newton Kiwanis Club last Tuesday by Roy Edwards in the person of Lieutenant Fred Connelly, Lieut. Connelly spoke very interestingly about his experiences as a bomber pilot. He paid tribute to the members of the air force, but said that the boys in the infantry who are living in fox holes and wallowing in the mud are the ones who deserve the highest praise. After the meeting, the lieutenant talked at length with some of the members who had further questions.

The main speaker of the day was Mr. Theodore Lockwood, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen. Mr. Lockwood reviewed the financial procedures of the city government and explained how they are affected by the budget and how their needs in turn affect the budget. There are 21 departments to be considered and he explained how the budget is periodically reviewed and revised upward and downward according to the needs of these departments.

He compared the city budget of 1931 with that of 1943 and analyzed the reasons for its variations. During this period there has been a total increase of $1,200,000 in the budget which has been reduced to a net increase of $800,000 by the practice of certain economies in the city government. Mr. Lockwood paid tribute to the various departments of the government and said that they all are efficiently operated. He also outlined some of the needs to be anticipated during the coming years and indicated that they will need to be provided for in the budget. The Welfare Department of the Educational System, and the old age assistance division provide more than the average city for those persons coming under their jurisdiction. The city government, he said, is in good hands and he feels that the post war needs of the people will be adequately met.

Tuesday, May 2nd, at 6:30 o'clock is the time set for Ladies' Night which will celebrate the original chartering of the Newton Kiwanis Club. The speaker of the evening will be Doctor D. Brewster Eddy. A fine meal is being planned and stunts of various kinds will be contributed to the fun. Reservations should be made with Pete Pettengill at once.

Rotary Club

The guest speaker at the Newton Rotary Club on Monday was Milton C. Allen, who was introduced by Matthew F. Ruane. Mr. Allen is a resident of Newton and is now Secretary to the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry of the New England Council. The purpose of that committee is to aid the agricultural, forestry, and allied professions. The greatest problem facing these is the labor shortage and the 125 per cent increase in farm wages. One project of the committee in the post-war period is rural electrification. Among the projects of the New England Council is that of aiding farm finance by having agricultural members on all finance boards. Mr. Allen spoke of the tremendous food-purchasing industry in the Northeast Valley and also within 50 miles of Boston. The food industry of New England runs close to one-half billion dollars a year. About 55 per cent of the purchasing power in the United States goes to farming. New England has the best breeding stock in the United States from which much of the restocking of invaded countries must spring after the war. He also spoke of the tremendous contribution of the farmers to the war effort in spite of the shortage of help, poor feeds, increased costs, and the foolish OPA regulations.

Among our guests was one of the most distinguished in a long time—Lt. Fred Connelly. Lt. Connelly served as a pilot of four-engine bombing planes, both with the American Air Force and the Canadian Air Force. He has an outstanding record: Two years of bombing raids in Europe, Africa and Italy, totaling 84 missions. He took part in the Ploesti raid. He has been awarded many decorations for his feats of bravery. The American Distinguished Flying Cross, the British Distinguished Flying Cross, the Purple Heart and an air medal with 3 Oak Leaves. Lt. Connelly is a Newton boy, and right now is visiting his parents. At the expiration of his leave he will assist in the organization of a new American Air Force.

Lt. Connelly spoke to the club and told of the new planes soon to be produced on which one could take off in New York, lead Berlin and Tokyo, and return to the United States without stop. In comparing the air and the infantry service, he said the Air Force have it easy. The visiting Rotarians included Walter Phillips, Joseph E. Perry and Louis Bachrach of Boston, George deCoe, John Tufts and Fred Healey of Watertown, Chester Eaton, Lawrence Easton, John H. Peterson and Harry Brown, all of Needham, and a Mr. Atherton, guest of Gene Campbell.

Following the talk the White Ribbon Recruiting Service will be held and Mrs. Edith M. Thayer, director of Child Welfare for Middlesex County will tie the ribbons on the wrists of the children who are present.

POLITICS WITH COLOR

By P. W. C.

Newton League of Women Voters

Your columnist was privileged to be a guest, as press representative, at the annual Legislators' Supper of the Newton League of Women Voters last Saturday evening at the Brae Burn Country Club. It was a thoroughly delightful occasion in every respect. In addition to the special guests of honor, our Representatives in the Legislature, Reps. Margaret Spear and George E. Rawson and Senator Bowen and the main speaker, Senator President Jarvis Hunt and Speaker of the House Rudolph F. King, there were present many prominent citizens and their wives, including a number of Aldermen. The President of the Board, Joseph B. Jamieson took a bow, but it was such a modest bow that it was almost afraid of its own shadow. Many of those present did not see him rise in his seat.

Rep. Loomis Patrick and Rep. Douglass B. Francis, who would ordinarily be present, are, of course, now serving in the Allied Military Government. We all missed them very much. Mrs. Francis, however, took a bow prior to the formal speaking.

There is a most friendly and informal touch to these annual affairs, which I would not miss under any circumstances. Despite the excellence of the supper itself, there was almost military discipline in the system under which the different tables rose en masse and headed for the refreshment table to select their choice of edibles. There appeared to be no penalty against those who made so bold as to walk over for a second helping.

Mrs. Robert T. Bushnell, as always, presided with charm and tact and told a number of amusing stories. A man might have felt a bit embarrassed in introducing two distinguished candidates for Lieutenant Governor to such a gathering. However, before presenting these gentlemen, Mrs. Bushnell asked the president of the League, Mrs. Howard E. Wilson, to say a few words about the League and its various activities. Mrs. Wilson, incidentally, appears to be one of the busiest ladies in the city and it is remarkable how she can find time to serve so efficiently as head of the League.

Mrs. Earl B. Millard is another member of this organization who works tirelessly to promote its many activities. It was she who opened the meeting and introduced Mrs. Bushnell as the presiding officer of the evening.

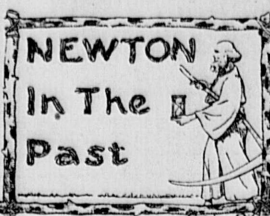

Speaker King made a very interesting address on the drama of good government in Massachusetts. He dwelt at length on the remarkable success of the current administration on Beacon Hill. He spoke of the tremendous reduction of the State debt, the reduction in operating cost of government, the doing away with waste and inefficiency and many other matters with which most of us are familiar in a general way, but about which it was helpful to receive more detailed enlightenment.

President Hunt spent much of his time discussing the recent special session of the Legislature. He made it clear that the general public was somewhat confused about the veterans legislation which came before the Legislators. It seems that the veterans of world war two will not benefit for quite a long time from the legislation enacted regarding the Soldiers Home in Chelsea. This is a home and not, fundamentally, a hospital, altho' there are hospital facilities for those veterans of OTHER wars who are currently living in the home. Unless I misunderstand Mr. Hunt, the money voted for the home will have absolutely no effect on veterans of this war who may need hospitalization in this vicinity today. Incidentally, one of the reasons why our Beacon Hill administration did NOT recommend any hospital legislation was the fact that the Governor and his associates believe that the federal government should take the lead in these matters, make comprehensive plans, appropriate sufficient funds, and THEN advise the various states what THEIR responsibilities are. However, the entire proposition was treated as a political football by the minority party, with the result that the anticipated two-day session which our Governor had planned for dragged out into a three weeks' affair.

One especially interesting feature of these meetings of the League is the lively question and answer period. The ordinary men's gathering frequently produces nothing very startling. The ladies, however, have a faculty of asking extremely pointed questions which cannot be dodged or side-stepped. As an example, one of the questions the other night dealt with the whys and wherefores of the impressive financial showing made by the present administration. Speaker King gave the answer in a manner which undoubtedly satisfied most of those present. However, the thought occurred to me that a few of the ladies might conceivably go home, take out pencil and paper and facts if the answer completely covered the situation! Can you imagine the average man taking all that time and trouble?

Finally, may I suggest this thought? Would it not be very helpful if the men in Newton, acting either in a non-partisan or a partisan manner, took steps to keep themselves carefully informed concerning their city, state and national governments BETWEEN elections?

On Sunday it was so warm that all the windows were thrown open, and Monday morning thin sheets of ice covered the pools left by Sunday night's rain.

An effort is being made to perfect an organization of the sons of veterans in Newton. In furtherance of this object a meeting is to be held next Monday evening, April 29, at the residence of J. F. Frisbie, Centre st., Newton. All sons of veterans in Newton are invited to attend.

The election passed off very quietly in West Newton. A large vote was polled, the second in comparison with the other wards of the city, the total reaching 392 when the polls closed.

The grove on Crafts st., Newtonville, is being ploughed up and will be grassed over and laid out prettily. It has ceased to be a grove, the trees have been removed and may now be included in the numerous small parks which abound in the Garden City.

The exterior of the brick building which is being built in the rear of the Crier estate on Walnut st., Newtonville, is about completed. It is three stories high, well finished and would add to the appearance of the street had it been built upon a site in front of its present location.

The Albany library students came to the Newton Free Library, last Saturday, some 20 strong, most of them ladies, and all of them armed with note-books and interrogation points, which they produced as soon as they entered the building, and used continuously during their stay. Two hours they were very enthusiastic over the excellent system they found in all departments.

A charming paper before the Woman's Guild (Newtonville) will be presented at its 10th birthday on May 15.

The time is coming in the near future when a day officer will be petitioned for Newton Lower Falls. The chief annoyance comes from the younger element when school is not in session.

Services—Sunday, 10:45—Wednesday, 8:00 P.M.

In The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and in all of its branches, a Lesson-Sermon will be read on Sunday, April 30, 1944, on the subject "Everlasting Punishment."

The Golden Text will be from Ezekiel 18:31, "Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? Other Bible selections include: "Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord . . . O Lord, thou hast pleaded the causes of my soul; thou hast redeemed my life" (Lamentations 3:40, 58).

Also included in the Lesson-Sermon will be the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "Blot out the images of mortal thought and its beliefs in sickness and sin . . . It is error to suffer for aught but our own sins. Christian Truth will destroy all other supposed suffering, and real suffering for your own sins will cease in proportion as the sin ceases" (p. 391).

Merry-Go-Round

the pleas business concerns are making via the advertising columns of the daily newspapers. The papers are carrying two and three full pages of ads and firms that formerly devoted one or two lines in their announcements of help wanted, are now inserting huge advertisements that promise just about everything imaginable. One woman, advertising for a maid, actually offered the use of her mink coat on the maid's day off and the living room two evenings a week.

The old song of depression days, "Brother Can You Spare a Dime," wouldn't sell a copy in this day and age. Everyone who can move a limb is being fitted into the Home Front's scheme of things. Anybody who wants to work, day or night or in between, can have an overwhelming abundance of it. It's a long cry to the era of that "Spare a Dime" ditty, although plenty of Uncle Sam's globetrotters can, doubtless, remember when it was an accurate musical picture of the times to millions of Americans in every line of endeavor.

NEVER COME BACK . . .

Those days will never come back. You can depend on present plans to sidetrack anything even remotely resembling them. That will be one of the great achievements of this war. It's true that some of last war's vets could hum, "We've Heard That Song Before," and with plenty of authority. But this time there's a lot of intelligent planning going on in every city, town and hamlet throughout the width and breadth of this country. Many of the planners are veterans of the first, the warm-up scrap, and they're seeing to it that every serviceman will have a job when he returns from this one.

That's strictly and definitely a fact. Time was, when a "God bless you, my boy . . . you'll never be forgotten . . ." Plus the fruity speeches of "Main Streets" outstanding stuffed shirts sped the boys on their way, only to be forgotten when the thing was over. It won't be that way when this one's finished. The human pouter pigeons are missing in the present set-up. There's a representative, sincere, intelligent group of our fellow citizens planning for the servicemen's future welfare this time, and you're going to miss a lot of headaches because of them and their efforts in your behalf.

EVERYTHING'S ALL RIGHT . . .

Your families are all right and so are the gals you left at home. The majority of them are busy in one or a dozen of the thousands of activities girls are engaged in here. And all so's to hasten your return. The war and the boys and girls, overseas, are on everybody's tongue, every hour of the day. From Newton Corner to the Upper Falls and from West Newton Hill to the boundary at Waban, service flags in almost every window are a constant reminder of you.

There isn't much tub thumping going on, but that's a good sign, for the gentry who like to step out in the limelight and toot the bugle are usually found to be blowing their own horns, anyway. If you could see the crowded train trolleys and buses, you'd get the general idea. Everybody realizes there's a real war on and that it's been on a long time now. All of them are in on it, one way or another, and they're too darn busy fighting in their own various ways, to do much cheering. That will come later—when you come home. In the meantime, don't worry about what the folks back home are thinking or doing. They know what you're up against. The news reels have given them a glimpse of part of it and they are saving their respective breaths, so's to work a little harder and a little longer, in an all-out effort to make your stay over there just a little shorter.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

William Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston and dean of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in America, died of bronchial pneumonia, Saturday night, April 22, at his residence, Commonwealth ave., Brighton. The noted prince of the Roman Catholic Church was 84. During his administration of Boston's archdiocese more than 100 parishes were added and new churches, hospitals and schools were erected. Church life was greatly stimulated and a more tolerant feeling between Catholics and non-Catholics was established. The archdiocese began a five-day requiem for Cardinal O'Connell Monday, April 24th. A priest for 59 years and bishop and cardinal since the apostles since 1901, William Cardinal O'Connell was a life-time foe of bigotry and prejudice. His body will lie in state in the Cathedral of the Holy Cross until burial Friday.

"Cookin'" would be accepted, but from letters that had previously been received from many of you in service, it was believed that you were being kept pretty well informed of the national news, and that there was a real need for a medium which would tell you of the homey happenings in your home town. To publish such local news has been and will be our policy.

Boston and local newspapers carry several pages of help wanted ads, among which are advertisements of many Newton firms.

There are fewer autos on the streets due to tire and gas rationing. A few years ago a presidential candidate used the slogan, "A car in every garage." That's where a good many cars are now! Young fellows in civvies are scarce enough to warrant a second look. Church bells ring every Sunday morning as usual, and by the way, the churches are doing an Herculean job of morale building! The Draft and Ration Boards are attracting a lot of business to City Hall.

The trees are in bud, lawns are getting green and hundreds of home gardeners are starting their Victory gardens. It looks like a big year for them. Local politics are beginning to simmer. We'll tell you when they really start to boil. If you have any questions about the home town we'll try to answer them, in these columns or by letter, as you wish.

You are constantly in our thoughts and prayers, and we are proud of you fellows, and when the war ends we'll get out a special edition of "What's Cookin'" to welcome you home.

NEWTON FIREMEN BUSY

The Newton Fire Department devoted more than two hours Saturday afternoon to the task of fighting a brush fire on the grounds on the Mt. Ida Junior High School for Girls in Oak Hill.

Firemen were called out Saturday to combat a blaze in a barn at 62 Lenox st., West Newton. Engines 2 and 4, and Ladder and bucket were called to the scene at 11:02 A.M. and returned to quarters at 11:42 a.m.

An overheated furnace in the cellar of the home of Joel Rosenberg, 142 Eastbourne rd., Newton Centre, resulted in a call for the Fire Department Saturday night. The firemen responded to the call at 6:38 p. m. The difficulty proved to have been due to the lack of water in the heating system.

The Newton firemen also extinguished several brush and grass fires during the weekend. Engine 4 fought a grass fire on North st., Newtonville, after being called to the scene at 9:22 a. m. Sunday. Engine 8 was called out at 10:31 a. m. to fight a similar fire on Hawthorne st., Newton. At 2:14 p. m., Engine 2 was called out to fight a similar blaze on land off Sheridan st., West Newton.

Firemen also were called out at 5:30 P. M. to assist a woman who found herself locked out of her home at 127 Langley rd., Newton Centre. A woman ascended a ladder, entered a window, and opened the door from the inside.

They have learned that the standard First Aid course will be most helpful to them and have asked the Newton Chapter for training.

CARDINAL O'CONNELL

The sad news of the death of Cardinal O'Connell has probably reached you from other sources. He died after a short illness of bronchial pneumonia. The Most Rev. Richard J. Thousands of Catholics, Protestants and Jews have sent tributes.

ARSENAL OFFICERS, WIVES GUESTS AT "Y" DINNER

A large group of Watertown Arsenal officers and their wives were guests at the annual dinner of the Newton Y. M. C. A. Business Men's Club recently at the "Y." A volleyball game between the officers and business men preceded the dinner. General Secretary Clarence R. Mease welcomed the group and Dr. Leslie Russell, member of the physical department committee, was master of ceremonies. Following the dinner a film entitled "A World at War" was shown and there was informal bowling.

NEWTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

A couple of local vets, Coleman (Red) Conroy and Tom Hughes, are back home again after taking a few pokes at the Monkeymen in the South Pacific scene of action. Red's still a soldier of Uncle Sam, stationed at Camp Devens, while Tom's out, and wearing that favorite Oxford grey, gee whizzer, topcoat once more. Both were among the first army to reach that end of the world, Hughes stepping ashore within a matter of weeks after his induction. As a matter of fact, Tom, in honor of the occasion, celebrated his 42nd birthday on the day of his arrival there.

Locals don't see much of Red, being as he's busy up in Ayer and just doesn't get around, but Tom, out, and back in circulation again, drops in occasionally, so that little by little, the Owls are getting some slight idea of what goes on out there in the land where one must wear a gee string, at least, on all formal occasions.

As is usual with the gents who've been in there and thrown a few in the general direction of the enemy, they do little talking, but from a word here and there, it's easy to realize a forty-two-year-old soldier doesn't have much in common with youngsters fifteen and twenty years his junior. . . . That a man out there on the front lines has an abundance of time to wonder and worry about home, present conditions there, his family and other matters of great importance, too, including his job, or any job, when he comes back. . . .

Those are the thoughts paramount and ever-present in the minds of servicemen, according to Tom. So, although it's the usual chore of this department to kick in with the little gems of nonsense, fondly calculated to be chuckle provokers, we'll try this once, to add a little weight and accurately describe present conditions, changes, and the plans now in the making, for the better future of all our fighting men of the present.

THIS IS IT . . . Conditions in Newton and surrounding cities are fairly normal at this writing. Time and events are ever on the move, of course, but the wheels are still turning steadily as in days of yore. The tempo is a bit faster, even though there's a shortage of just about everything, particularly male help.

Nevertheless, Production in every line, from beets to battleships, is stepping out faster and faster every day.

Concerning the help problem, warriors who've been away for a couple of years, especially those who marched away in the peacetime draft, would be amazed at (Continued on page 4)

It was announced that the speakers for the next meeting would be Mr. William J. Fortune, Assistant Vice-President of the National Shawmut Bank. Mr. Fortune is a forceful speaker and a real booster of New England, who is very "bullish" on the future of aviation for this section of the country. He is at the present time on the Aeronautical Committee of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, and is an active member of the New England Council. All Lions are urged to come and bring guests to this most interesting meeting.

HYMN FOR OUR ARMED FORCES

THE ARMY

Eternal Father! by whose might Our soldiers guard our native land,
O may they in Thy legions fight
When this war's done. And let Thy hand
Be now their buckler and their sword.
Be in their tents, O gracious Lord.

THE NAVY

Eternal Father! 'neath whose feet
The angry waves were calm and still,
O be the lookout for our fleet,
And guard our sailors from all ill.
O hear the prayer that they may keep
All those who sail upon the deep.

THE MARINE CORPS

Eternal Father! be with those Who are the soldiers of the sea;
Be with them when the rocket glows,
Be with them in the trench and the
Be with them on the battlefield, Be with their armor and their shield.

THE AIR FORCE

Eternal Father! at whose word
The raging winds of Heaven are calm,
O to our steel-winged boys afford
Thy safety from all sudden harm.
Be with them in the low ring sky,
And be their Pilot when they fly.
Amen.

FLOYD OUTLINES OBJECTIVES OF CITIZENS' ADVISORY GROUP

Mr. Floyd said that the principal function of the Committee is to assist Newton servicemen and women in their adjustment to a normal life upon return from military service and that, being a community endeavor, it should coordinate with all other resources in Newton. Here is where existing agencies can co-operate, he said and he requested the executives to assist in any way possible in amplifying the present program and in rendering service so that the way will be made easier for those returning veterans.

VANDALS BREAK MORE WINDOWS

The breaking of school windows in Newton by vandals continued unabated during the past week-end despite efforts by the authorities to combat the practice. The Newton High School was hit again and the Oak Hill School was also hit. At the high school half a dozen windows were broken, and at the Oak Hill School the vandals shattered ten panes of glass.

The damage was reported to the police by Arthur Swanson, supervising engineer of the School Department.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The first model airplane meet in the history of Newton High School was held in the gymnasium on Thursday, April 6, before a crowd of interested students. Sponsored by the Aviation Club under the direction of Mr. Somerville of the Science Department, the meet proved a great success.

The meeting was opened by J. Millard Harmon, president of the Aviation Club.

After the meet was adjourned, the gathering went to the assembly hall to view a color film on the Fairchild PT-19 Trainer, thus completing an entertaining afternoon.

STUDENTS HIGHLY PRAISED

The student body of Newton High School was highly praised for its purchase of War Bonds in a letter recently received from the Fairchild Aircraft Corporation, manufacturers of three airplanes bought by the Army with the proceeds of the bonds.

The name of Newton High School will be inscribed in the cockpits of the planes, the letter stated. Signed by R. S. Bouteille, vice-president and general manager of Fairchild Aircraft, division of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corporation, the letter was addressed to "The students of Newton High School."

BILL GOULD WILL CAPTAIN INDOOR TRACK TEAM IN 1945

At a recent meeting of the 1944 Indoor Track team, Billy Gould, one of the squad's leading scorers, was chosen Track Captain for next year. Bill's spirit and track ability make him capable for the position. His story is simple. Last year he went out for track both indoor and outdoor, but did not see service as he ran out of a faculty ban on both occasions and was obliged to turn in his suit. Bill, however, still practiced and was taught and closely watched by the Coaches, Considine and Boyce. Then this year Bill Gould, although "green," produced gratifying results and he proved most valuable to the team.

"NEWTONITE" AWARDED SECOND PRIZE

The "Newtonite," newspaper published by the students of Newton High School, was awarded second prize in Class A at the annual meeting of the Eastern Massachusetts Scholastic Press Association at Northeastern University in Boston. The "Commerce Mercury" of Worcester won first prize. The magazines, newspapers and colleges in New England were on display throughout the day.

Shirley, manager of the communications department of the First Boston Corporation and vice-president of the Newton Community Chest, has been appointed general chairman of the 1945 United War Fund Campaign in Newton, according to a statement recently by Clark E. Woodward, president of the Newton Community Chest.

Mr. Shirley was assistant general chairman of the 1944 campaign, presidential campaign of 1942 and 1943 campaigns, and for the three years prior to that was captain, major, and village chairman in Waban.

SPORTS... in a Nutshell

April 15

The Red Sox and Braves opened the season with a game at Fenway Park. The Sox just losing out to the Braves 6-5. Bob Johnson, our new left fielder, crashed out a two bagger in the ninth, driving in two runs which won the game for the Sox.

Al Jaffe held the Sox to six hits and one unearned run for seven innings, with the Braves leading 4-1 when he retired, but Caradoni and Lindquist could not hold the Sox the last two innings. Eddie Lake, the Sox infielder, pitched the ninth, striking out Niemier and Klutz. Farrell popped up for the third out.

The Sox defeated the Braves in the second game 3-2 and won the city series. Jim Tobin pitched a dandy game and so managed the ball that it hit the ground in front of Phil Masi and Garrison scored the winning run. Terry pitched seven innings with Vic Johnson pitching the last two. Culbertson showed a burst of speed when he went from first to second in right field by throwing Bill Conroy out at first. This would make you think of Ty Cobb.

Tex Hughson and John Peacock will report to the Sox at once and play with them until they are called for service. Ira Hutchinson will join the Braves in New York in the opening game of the season.

Gov. Saltonstall threw out the first ball to catcher Partee Tuesday, April 18, and once again the baseball season was opened. Hank Borowy, the Yankee's pitcher, was hot and shut the Red Sox out 3-0 allowing only 5 hits. Terry pitched seven innings, gave up 7 hits and 3 runs including a home run into the Red Sox bullpen in right field by John Lindell. Mike Ryba started his chores early this season by pitching the last two innings. George Metkovich went from 1st to 3rd while the pitcher was throwing out Garrison.

The Braves lost their opening game to the Giants 2-1. Javary pitched a five-game with no score until the seventh when Butch Niehan could not hold the ball after he got his hands on it in deep left. Phil Weirault, the Giant's 1st baseman scored, and when Klutz dropped the ball in his anxiety to tag Keyes away went the ball game.

The Red Sox turned on the heat Wednesday, April 19, and sent the Yankees back to New York mad as hornets by defeating them in both games; the morning game 6-1, and the afternoon game 5-2. The Sox outplayed the Yankees all the way. George Woods hit the Yankees to nine scattered hits in the morning game, allowing the one run in the second inning. The Sox scored five runs in the sixth and turned in two double plays.

In the afternoon Emmett O'Neill

beat the Yanks pitching a good game.

With the bases full in the sixth he forced Drescher to hit into the perfect double play Skeeter to Bobby to George Metko. Jim Tabor hit a home run, gave Doerr, who had doubled, in ahead of him. Levy hit a home run in the second for New York. Culbertson drove in 2 runs.

The Braves lost their second straight to the Giants 2-1. Tobin pitched a corker, but Manager Ott hit a home run in the first inning after George Hausman had walked and this hit was the ball game. Lefty Pyle held the Braves to four hits. Witelmann walked in the third, Steve Shimo hit a two bagger sending him to third base and he scored on Tommy Holmes' hit. Kerr speared Gladu's line drive ending the rally.

Bobo Newsome shut out the Sox 4-0 Saturday, April 22 showing Mr. Mack that he still can pitch, and you just bet this was sweet revenge for Bobo. He sure loves to beat his old teammates just to make Joe mad.

Cote won the 48th B. A. A. marathon beating Johnny Kelley: Cote's time 2:31:50.4, Kelley 2:32:03. Cote is the first runner to win this race two years in succession since Clarence DeMar did it in 1927-1928. It was a beautiful day for the race and a large crowd cheered the runners all the way. Many were rooting for Kelley but this did not bother Cote who ran a good race leading most of the way. These two ran neck and neck until Cote took the lead at Corn and Mass. ave. From there he increased his lead beating Kelley by fifty yards.

Cote is 30 years old, Kelley 36, and the six years meant victory as they drew to the finish line. 80 runners got away at noon. Many fell out on the way. Carl Maroney led the field until half way between Natick and Wellesley. Cote then taking over. Maroney finished sixteenth. As usual the Newton Hills took their toll and those not in perfect condition had to drop back. Cote has now won the race three times.

The Montreal Canadiens won the Stanley Cup defeating Chicago four straight in the playoffs.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS LEAGUE OPENER 6-5

Newton High School opened its Suburban Baseball League race by edging Arlington High 6 to 5, in a tight contest at Claffen Field, Newtonville last Thursday.

After leading most of the way Newton allowed the visitors to tie up the contest in the final inning and then the Orange came thru with the winning run. Wes Hayes went the distance on the mound for Newton and contributed to the attack with a two bagger. Other heavy hitters for the winners were Captain Noel Roberts, with a double and a single; Robert Bryant, with a single and a triple, and Henry Geary, who made two hits in four official trips.

On Friday the Newton High School was defeated by Cambridge Latin, 6 to 3, in its second Suburban Baseball League start at Claffen Field.

Southpaw Eddie Achercherio, Cambridge Latin ace hurler, gave up only six hits and kept the home team scoreless until the seventh. Newton filled the bases in the final inning with only one out, but were able to score only one run.

Charley Bryson starred at the bat for Newton with a double and a single in three trips, while Roger Bryant banged out a two-bagger in four attempts. Joe McManus went the distance on the mound for Newton and gave up 11 hits.

Newton's next Suburban League game will be with Watertown on Wednesday, April 6, at Claffen Field.

ST. SEBASTIAN'S POSTS 2ND WIN

St. Sebastian's Country Day School of Newton chalked up its second straight baseball win of the season by defeating Angel Guardian School of Boston, 9 to 4 at Newton Tuesday.

Jim O'Connell, St. Sebastian hurler, restricted his opponents to three hits, while his mates collected eight off four opposing twirlers.
